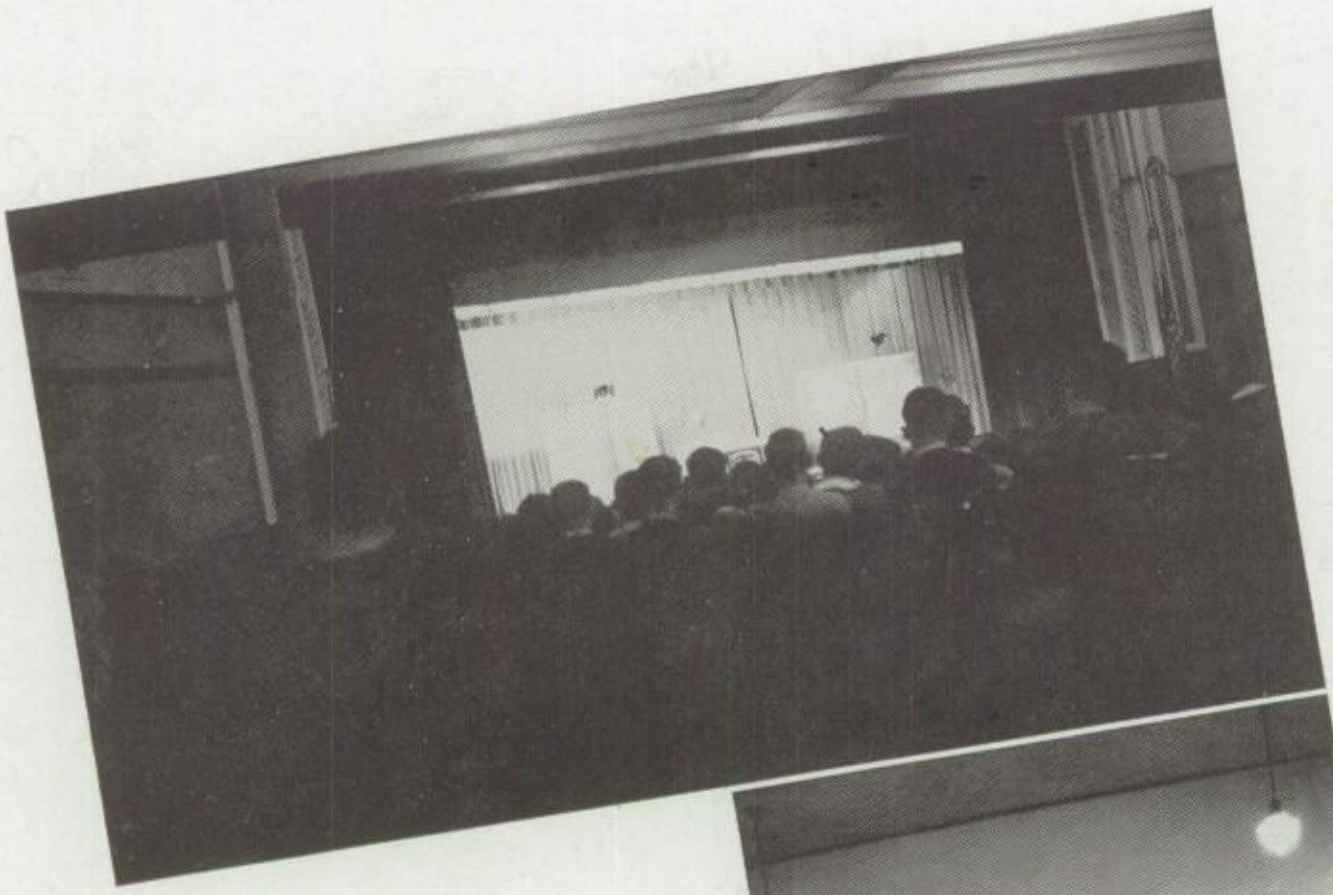
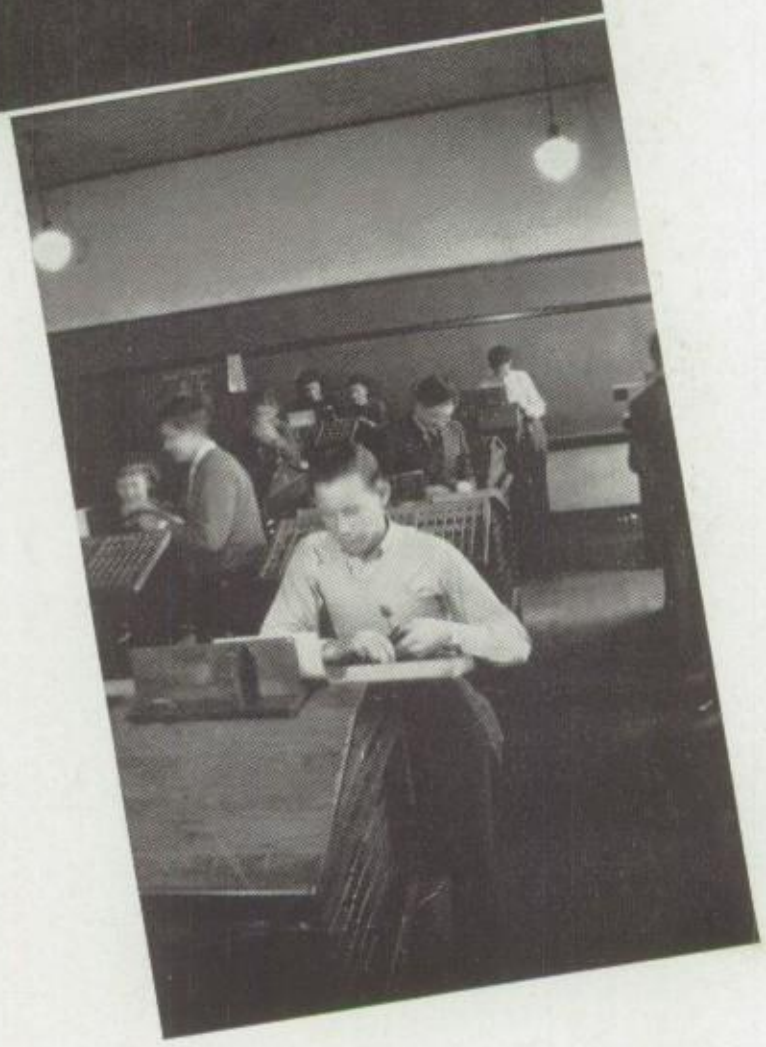
Foreword

WHAT does Paseo high school accomplish in preparing her students for life? This question is one which the 1938 Paseon is attempting to answer. The staff has endeavored to build this book so that it will record the events of the school year . . . but more than this, so that it will bring to its readers also some appreciation of Paseo's aims . . . the development of sound minds, healthy bodies, strong characters.





THE divisions of the book have been made to emphasize these aims. Of course, it is true that every activity of the school bears some relationship to each of these major purposes. It has been the intention of the staff to distribute the various organizations and activities in the sections where they seem to make the most valuable contributions.

PASEO is young, but already some of her alumni have gained recognition in business, music, art, medicine, various phases of engineering, education, and in other fields. These achievements are in themselves evidence of worthwhile training which the school has given. But the character of these alumni . . . the influence for good which they have had and will have in their communities . . . these are a far higher tribute to the school from which they have graduated.

SENIORS

Perhaps no finer inspiration could be given the class of 1938 than this statement by a successful alumnus, who prefers to remain anonymous:

"Let us, the graduates of previous years and those of you who soon will leave Paseo's halls, recount together what Paseo has meant to us. During the four years at Paseo the day-dreams of our childhood have been transformed into definite plans for the future, and these plans, which in many cases have resulted from our interests in particular subjects or from the inspiration of certain teachers, will largely determine the directions in which our lives will lead. Here at Paseo we have formed many friendships which will make life richer and fuller. The assignments, examinations, and a large part of the information may be forgotten within a few years, but the habits which we have acquired in pursuing our studies will remain. In this period of our education we have learned the values of perseverance and self-reliance. Our extra-curricular activities, which have given us pleasure, have also provided us with a better preparation for life. Although we go forth with no illusions concerning the world as it is, we hold fast to our idealism that it can be made better. We leave Paseo following diverging paths, but with a common plea,

'Make us ready, hold us steady
Where'er we may go.'"

MARY LOU BUTTON – Mary Lou, a Cynthian and a public speaking enthusiast, delights in dancing. She plans to be a nurse after graduation . . . WARREN BUTTS – Warren was a member of the Spanish club and sergeant-at-arms of his home room. Holidays were the most enjoyable features of his life at Paseo, but aren t they to all? . . . LORETTA BYRNE – Loretta belonged to the Girl Reserves; she was treasurer and Auto club representative of her home rooms. Her hobbies are skating and reading. Next year she will go to J. C. . . . ROBERT MALCOLM CAMERON – The president of the Camera club was very active in fulfilling his position. Robert was a Student Council representative, an Auto club member, and also president of the Engineers . . . MARY ELIZABETH CAPPS – Mary was highly interested in girls' sports, being a member of several all-star teams. With a background like this, Mary could easily enter professional athletics . . . MARIE CAPRA – Although she won first prize in a fashion show her sophomore year, she does not intend to continue with her sewing. Instead, Marie will enroll at a business college . . . ARTHUR CARLSON – Chemistry and electricity were interesting to Arthur, a member of the Sociology, Agassiz, and Hi-Y clubs . . . JOHN THOMAS CARMICHAEL – Claiming him as a member was the Fraternal Order of Misogyny (women haters). He also belonged to the Juntos, Traffic Squad, and was the business manager of the Press.

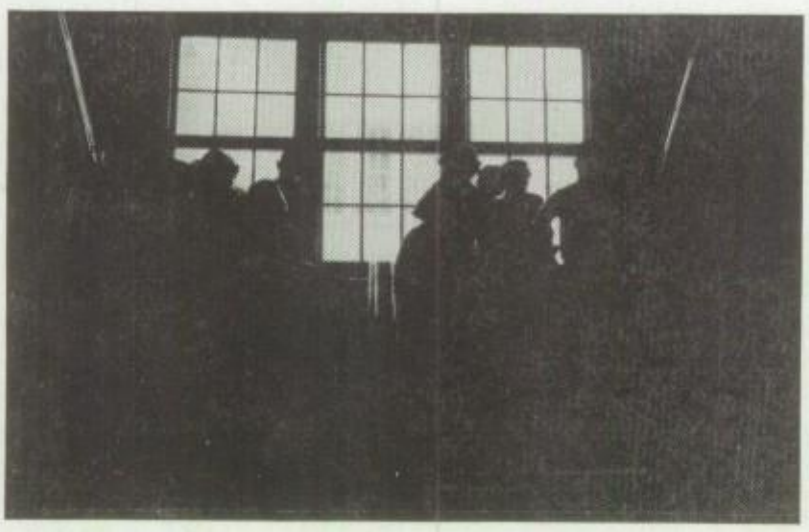
JOYCE CARMODY – To sing in the bathtub struck a gladsome note for Joyce. She wants to be a dress designer, planning to attend a fashion academy in New York; she has taken four years of art work, and belongs to the Sociology and Auto clubs . . . GEORGE CRANDAL – George will take up motion picture advertising if he realizes his ambition. He enjoyed watching professional baseball; the R. O. T. C. was a major interest for him . . . GERTRUDE CARR – Gertrude was a reporter for the Press during her junior year; a Pepperette, and Auto club member; she was also interested in photography and stamps . . . HELEN CARTER – To be a nurse is Helen's ambition, and a persevering one she will make. She was a Health Room assistant, president of the Iotas, and member of the Sociology club . . . MARJORIE CARTER – Although "whoosis" and "whatsis" held no interest for Marjorie, whatnots did; she also liked to ice skate. She was an Iota, and held many offices in her home rooms . . . NEAL RICHARD CAYTON – Neal was the executor of many runs in his capacity as end on the football team. He ran the 440 and the 880 on the track team . . . JIM CECIL – Jim's hobby was a, a, a, - - -. His main interest was the uh, uh, er, - - -. Well, we do know he was interested in music and was in the Band . . . MARGUERITE CHAFFIN – A beauty academy is the ultimate destination of Marguerite. As a member of the A Cappella Choir, Zetas, and Sociology clubs, she enjoyed her membership.

AVIS CHARNO – Either to go into social service work or teach sociology in a high school is the goal of Avis. She was the treasurer of the Sociology club, vice-president of the Talent club, president of the Camp Fire Girls and a member of the Girl Reserves and Honor Roll . . . RUBY CHILDERS – Ruby plays the guitar and sings. Her favorite subject was American history, in which she excelled. The senior assemblies added much enjoyment to her school life . . . KENNETH CLARK – Little information could be gathered about Kenneth, except that he was absent much from school. We suppose that he enjoyed sports, as do most boys . . . ROBERT CLARK – Champion of the 1937 state-wide golf tournament was Bob who intends to continue golf and eventually become a professional player. He played forward on the basketball team, belonged to the Keats and was a Student Council alternate . . . WILLIAM CLARK – Bill enjoyed the R. O. T. C. most, but sports was a runner-up. He was secretary and reporter of his home room and expects to attend K. C. U. . . . EUGENE CONCANNON – An alternate Student Council representative, interested in sports, Eugene likes to play baseball, basketball, go swimming and to ice skate. He was a member of the Honor Roll . . . CHARLES DEAN CONNER – This Student Council representative was athletic-minded, liking particularly baseball and football . . . TOM CONROY – Tom is a boy who believed in school, rather than attending it. He was often absent, as the roll books will testify.

BEN CONSTANTINO – Sports contests, eating, and sleeping were hailed by Ben who excelled in all of them. He liked many of the assemblies . . . MARY ELLEN COOK – Mary extolled the merits of the Christmas plays, and was an admirer of the assemblies. She will enter the study of cosmetology upon graduation . . . LAURA LEE COPSON – For some deserving man, Laura would make a good wife for she said, "I love to do housework and cook." While at Paseo she enjoyed her cooking classes, the Talent club and her biology and botany classes . . . BETTY LEE CORDRY – An Iota, Girl Reserve, and Talent club member, Betty was interested in skating and reading and expects to attend the K. C. Art Institute . . . BETTY JEANNE CORKINS – Belonging to the Cynthians, Girl Reserves and Agassiz, Betty was a potential personality with refined interests. She liked the Press and the Paseons . . . MARION CORLETT – Undecided as yet as to what college she will attend, Marion does know that she enjoys ice skating, the Zetas, and Girl Reserves . . . EMORY STANLEY CORRIGAN – Combining sociology and safety, he exhibited his interests in the Sociology club and the Auto club. He likes drafting and plans to attend J. C. . . . MARY ELIZABETH CORRIGAN – Mary is the possessor of the lust for roller skating, football and basketball games. She liberated her interests in the Sociology club, Mixed Chorus, and Girl Reserves.

MILTON CORSON – For two years, this enterprising member of the Keats club played the trumpet in the Band. He enjoys ice skating and dancing; perhaps he will continue these things at K. C. U. or J. C. . . . MORRIS S. COUCH – Expressing interest in sports, Morris designated also that he liked the mixers immensely. He has held the offices of vice-president, treasurer, and secretary in his home room . . . BETTY MAXINE COWLES – Betty will be a commercial artist if her plans pan out. For the past four years she has passed a Junior Life-Saving test in swimming . . . ELEANOR JEAN CRADIT – Sewing and fashion shows hold excitement and thrills for Eleanor. She swims, dances, and rides horseback as well as she sews. She was on the Press staff . . . EVERETT CARR – Everett's high-school career was filled with sports: golf, football, skating, and basketball. On the Pirate basketball team he was a guard; he also was on the Traffic Squad . . . JOE CRAWFORD – Joe, an officer in the R. O. T. C., member of the Officer's club, Engineers, Mask and Wig, Pep, and Auto clubs, thoroughly enjoyed his work in the public speaking classes. He was also on the Press staff . . . DORA LEE CREECH – The sixth hour office assistant was Dora Lee who was also in the Mixed Chorus, secretary of the Zetas, in the Home Economics club, and a Student Council alternate . . . GERALDINE MARIE CROSS – Jerry showed a decided interest in sports when she won for herself a position on all the all-star teams for girls. She was a treasurer for the Atalantas, and was in the Home Economics club.

JOHN BUFORD CROSS – John, a second-team football halfback, was a member of the Keats, and Hi-Y. He enjoyed dancing and played excellent ping-pong . . . MANSFIELD CROWE – Exhibiting ability in his football playing and work on the track squad, Mansfield gained a position on the football second team. He liked to labor at woodwork . . . HERBERT RICHARD DAHL – That Richard was interested in camping, hunting and fishing was exhibited by his membership in an outside hunting club. He was a member of both Honor Rolls and was in the German club . . . RUTH ELIZABETH DAMSGARD – It is the intention of Ruth to obtain a job as stenographer. Sports of all kinds were enjoyed by her, and she was a member of the Sociology club and Girl Reserves . . . NORMA JANE DAVENPORT – Guided by the ideals of the Iota Literary society, Norma followed with enjoyment of "most everything at Paseo." She will take a beauty course at some college . . . LOIS L. DAVIDSON – To hike in the out-of-doors, with the birds, the bees, the flowers and the trees, and to sew and cook represented phases of Lois' pursuits. She enjoyed the assemblies and the plays . . . JAMES C. DAVIS – Being on the track team and receiving a letter did not monopolize all of James' time; the rest he spent in studying, ice skating, and collecting stamps . . . FRANCES DAY – Frances was a member of the Iotas, Pepperettes, and was secretary of the Parliamentary Law club. She was an officer of the Girl Reserves and a charity speaker.



FLOYD ANDREW DENNIS – Floyd will go to some engineering school to study drafting. He enjoyed saving stamps and tinkered with radios . . . BETTY LEE DEUSER – "I've enjoyed singing with the A Cappella Choir," said Betty. She intends taking up advertising as her career. Bowling is her hobby . . . MARIAN DILLE – Marian spent much of her time pursuing a variety of hobbies. She was a member of the Cynthians, Pepperetes, Girl Reserves, and secretary of the Law club . . . ROBERT N. DODD – Confining his activities to membership on the Traffic Squad, and representing his home room in the Student Council, Robert also enjoyed working perplexing experiments in chemistry and being a Junto . . . THOMAS DORAN – In the Muir club, Thomas was a member. He enjoyed playing basketball and football . . . ROBERT DORRELL – Hunting and fishing held an interest for Robert. He was treasurer of his home room and intends to attend J. C. . . . RAMONA BELLE DOUGLAS – To sing is a great pleasure to Ramona for she does it well. She liked the study hall too, and the plays. The mixers also held an interest for her . . . RICHARD CARL DOUGLAS – Richard exhibited stamina in playing the position of left tackle on the football team. He was also on the track team. He belonged to the Keats, and Lettermen's club, having won a letter in football. He was the sports editor of the Press.

FRANK GLENN DOUTHAT – Playing golf and dancing are his hobbies, the clubs he belonged to were the Parliamentary Law club and the Engineers. The science and the mathematics classes greatly interested him . . . CHRISTINE HELEN DOWNING – Corresponding with people in far-off lands is Christine's hobby. She liked the annual and Press . . . DOROTHY DEANNE DUNLAP – To skate and ride horseback held a great deal of pleasure for Dorothy, a member of the Honor Roll. She enjoyed art too, and belonged to the Cynthians, for whom she was a reporter . . . RUTH MARIAN DUNN – Marian was on both Honor Rolls, and one of the fifteen highest ranking girls in scholarship who were sponsored by the University Women. She was a Girl Reserve . . . ALLEN HOWARD ECTON – Allen served in the capacity as the chairman of the Property Committee of the Student Council. He was a Traffic Squad lieutenant, president of the Hi-Y and Juntos, and was Associate Editor of this Paseon, which he represented at the N. S. P. A. Convention in Des Moines . . . LILLIAN MARIE EISEN – This member of the Girl Reserves and Spanish club was also a song writer. She will go to a dramatic school to develop her talent . . . WILLIAM VERNON ELLIOTT — Bill was an admirer of a good game of tennis or football; the playing of the Paseo tennis and football teams satisfied him (we hope) . . . CAMERON GAYLORD ELWICK — A member of the Stage Crew was Cameron, who belonged to it for two years. He also was a member of the Sociology club . . . PAULINE ENGBERG — In the Choral club, Pauline sang beautifully. She attended the football games and enjoyed the Press immensely. She wants to be a steno . . . ROBERT ESTERLEY — While enjoying lunch and the newspapers, Robert also had time to be interested in all sports. Track was particularly suited to his tastes . . . SARAH EWALD — Rushees entering the Iotas would first have to go through a ceremony prepared by Sarah in her capacity as initiator. She belonged to the German club, too . . . JACK FALK — Jack, a member of the Hi-Y, secretary, treasurer, and cashier of his home rooms, expects to attend either Kansas university, or M. U. when he graduates . . . DAVE FERGUSON — In the A Cappella Choir, Dave harmonized nicely. He also liked to play ping-pong, a game at which he usually won . . . DOROTHY JEAN FILLEY — Dorothy, a cheerful individual, was a member of the Girl Reserves and Iotas, and was a Student Council representative. She liked to ice skate.

HARRY FLEMING — Harry enjoyed his three years of science and the time spent in the gym classes. He also liked to play basketball and baseball . . . PHYLLIS FLORA — Being concert master of the orchestra was only one of Phyllis' accomplishments. She played first violin in the String Quintet, and was also on the feature staff of the Press. She will go to J. C. . . . JACK RANDALL FOWLER — Radio and television work ranked high in Jack's estimation and he intends to go to a television school . . . MILDRED JEANNE FOX — Mildred was an Iota, in the Home Economics club, and a Student Council representative. She wants to go into nurses' training . . . CONSTANCE FOOTE — Art work was her hobby, and she plans to attend art school after graduation. She was very active in this line of work . . . STEWART FOOTE — To be an apprentice in a newspaper office upon graduation is the work Stewart wishes to do. While here, he enjoyed the assemblies the most . . . VALERIE ANNE FRANGKISER — To the K. C. Art Institute Valerie will go for further study. She was sergeant-at-arms and treasurer of the Iotas, and a Student Council representative . . . WARREN MAYNARD WALKER – In the R. O. T. C., Warren progressed to the rank of second lieutenant; he was a member of the Officer's club, Stage crew, Stamp club, Auto, Chess, and Camera clubs. He also professed an interest in photography and chemistry . . . BETTY WALLER – "Am really sorry to be leaving Paseo," says Betty, who belonged to the Executive Board of the Student Council and was a member of the Art Committee of that same body. She was the president of the Thicions, and dramatic director of the Spanish club.

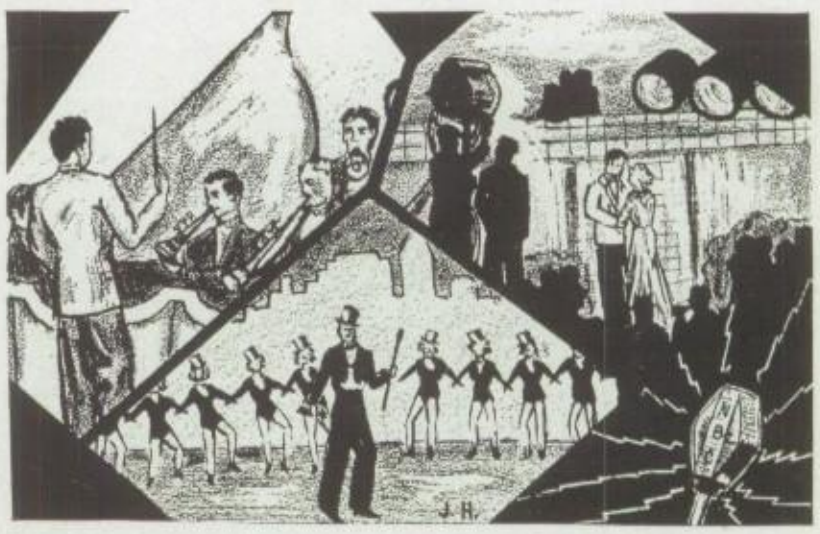
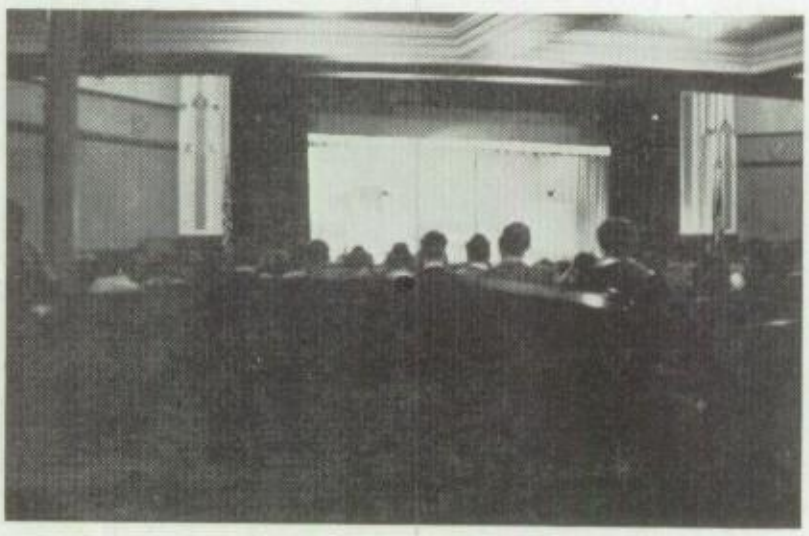
LUCILLE MARTHA WEBER – Twice Lucille was elected the art director of the Auto club. She collects famous people's autographs, and enjoyed the Paseons and Presses. She wants to go to the Art Institute . . . PHILIP WEBSTER – Playing the clarinet is a hobby of Philip's, a member of the Mixer Orchestra. He engaged in woodwork, and plans to go to Junior college . . . PATSY WEGENER – The Girl Reserves had as one of its members, Patsy, a girl who wishes to be a nurse. She swims, hunts, and collects match books . . . DOROTHY JEANETTE WEIDE – Dorothy wishes to "catch up on my sleep" after graduation, but we really don't believe her. She belonged to the Auto club, and enjoyed her friends and teachers . . . BILLY MELVIN WEINBERG – On an outside-of-school football team, Billy was the all-star center. He belonged to the Pep club, played ping-pong, liked to dance, swim, ride horseback, and play tennis. He will go to J. C. . . . IRVIN S. WEINTRAUB – Irvin. an alternate Student Council representative, was athletic-minded as he was interested in all types of sports. He will attend Northwestern university . . . MARY WELCH – Either J. C. or Teachers' college will gain Mary, a member of the Peppy Pirates, Spanish club, and Girl Reserves. She also belonged to the Honor Roll, and won a first prize in a fashion show . . . DOROTHY WELLS – Dorothy, a person of few words, lets us know that she was interested in costume designing and reading. She will go to K. C. U.



KENNETH FALK WESSEL – Kenneth is licensed by the Federal government to own and operate an amateur radio station – W9QAU. He belonged to the Engineers, of which he was sergeant-at-arms, and was the president and treasurer of the Radio club . . . JAMES WETSEL – This Student Council representative was a member of the German club, and was a guard on the football team. To Kansas City Junior college he will go for further study . . . EMMA MARIE WETTER – Emma, a member of the Parliamentary Law club, Girl Reserves, Auto club, and Verse Speaking Choir, wants to be a writer. She was on the Press staff. She will go to a secretarial school . . . DOROTHY WHITE – Dorothy enjoyed her friends. She even considered the Press as a friend. She will go to some business college here in Kansas City; her hobby was reading . . . BOB WHITE – Bob won his letter in football, playing the position of guard. He was also on the sophomore basketball team, and was the vice-president and treasurer of his home room. He is an Eagle Scout . . . GARLAND WHITSITT – The versatile actor, Garland, was in the cast of several plays and intends to be a "radio broadcaster, actor, or doctor." He was a Student Council alternate and member of the Engineers and Honor Roll . . . PHILIP R. WIGG – Delineating was a favorite pastime of Philip's, that is, drawing cartoons. It is this that he wishes to do as a life work. He wants also to enroll at K. C. U. Astronomy, however, also held his interest . . . EUGENE M. WILEY – After Eugene attends J. C. he will go to the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla. He was a reporter for the Press, and member of the Stamp club and Honor Roll. He was interested in photography.

LANCEFORD WILKES – All outdoor activities, especially scouting, greatly interested Lanceford. He was the vice-president of the Muir club, and an Auto club representative . . . ALLENE WILLIAMS – "Cookie" attended Raytown high school her first three years before coming to Paseo. She enjoyed the basketball and football games. She collects stamps, photographs, dances, and likes all sports . . . WILEY T. WILLIAMSON, Jr. – Says Wiley, "I like gym best; I took it four years." Swimming and basketball were his particular favorites, however . . . CAMERON WINNIE – The part of the time that Cameron was in school, he went under the name of either Cameron or Bill, the rest of the time he was absent; and his report card supports that statement . . . BETTY ANN WRIGHT – The football games and the Talent club assemblies were interesting to Betty Ann. She liked to sew and draw, and plans to go to the Art Institute . . . MARGUERITE ELIZABETH WRIGHT – Marguerite's nickname is Margie, and she enjoyed making friends, going to the mixers, and football games. She dances and roller skates; she will go to the Art Institute . . . BOB WOOD – The Lettermen's club had Bob as a member, and a worthy one he was. He enjoyed being on the football team, playing the position of center. He will attend Nebraska university . . . ROBERT WORMINGTON – Robert enjoyed going to the show, singing, and all sports. As yet, he is not decided about what college he will attend, but he will attend one.



J. C. YOCOM – After graduation, J. C. wishes to be a salesman. He enjoyed dancing and reading. In his home room he was the president and vice-president . . . VIRGINIA CHURCH – The Girl Reserves and Cynthians had as a member, Virginia, a booster of football and other athletic games. She also liked horseback riding . . . FRIEDA PARKER – An unfortunate chain of events kept Frieda from regularly attending school. Her illness kept her from steady study of her commercial course . . . RAY SHELLEY – Ray, tall and handsome. member of the Engineers and in the cast of several plays, was immensely interested in sports. While at Snohomish high school in Seattle, Washington, he played tackle on the football team.

20 YEARS INTO THE FOO -TURE

JOE SPARKS owns a knitting factory. Queerly enough, his hobby is raveling sweaters. He can sit for hours, just raveling . . . Mary Betty Satterlee raises a special silver orchid that sells for $12 each. $5 of this is for the orchid and $7 for the name —"Orchids of the Moonlight" . . . Corwin Bauer became a hermit and went to live in the mountain fastnesses of Tibet. It was a great surprise to his family and friends. Just got tired of it all, I guess . . . Jean Seymour sells Honeydew Lipstick — "The Lipstick of Invitation"—at Saks, Fifth Avenue in New York . . . Bob Hanger graduated from West Point, and now he is Secretary of War. It's the first time a Secretary of War has been graduated from West Point, but it's a good idea, don't you think? His wife, Betty Waller, is very proud of him . . . Esther Sharp works in a settlement house in Minneapolis, Minnesota. In her off hours, she teaches ice-skating and horseback riding . . . Shirley Van Noy has an Advice-to-the-Lovelorn column in a paper in Denver, Colorado. She's had a lot of experience and is equipped to advise well . . . Bob Billington is a public speaking teacher in Butte, Montana. The kids all rag him about getting bald, but his wife loves him, so why should he worry? . . . Harry Nearing owns a big fleet of trucks. He goes trucking all over the country. His trucks have radios in them, so they can truck to music . . . George Spink owns a matrimonial agency. He got his wife through it. Personally, I'm surprised that he still runs it . . . Mae Smith's husband is the leader of an expedition to the South Pole. The name of the village is the Little Flower, and Mae is the only woman in it . . . Peggy Redpath is the wife of the Prime Minister of England. She was his inspiration, and put him where he is. They have twin girls—Mary Maude and Portia . . . Eleanor McCurry's husband, Bud Landers, is a traveling salesman. Eleanor knows all about traveling salesmen, so she travels with him, to keep an eye on him, I guess . . . Conrad Marvin is a million-a-year insurance salesman. He makes some of his best contacts in the cocktail lounge of the country club . . . Betty Newman is an interior decorator. She won't take men customers, though, because once a man burned down a house she did . . . Jean Lutz and Valerie Frangkiser are among the more famous graduates. They are that famous team of stage, screen, and television—the Pixillated Pixies . . . Seth Levene is a song composer in Tin Pan Alley. He has had ten songs on Hit Parade . . . Bob Wood is an architect in Japan. He builds buildings that are earthquake-proof . . . Betty Nanninga's husband is a professor. He was voted the most popular on the campus . . . Lillian Bottom married Bob White—the boy with the dreamy eyes. He invented a serum for cows that made them give more milk, and he and Mousie are contentedly living on money from Contented Cows and Carnation Milk . . . Richard Shope is the engineer of a diamond mine in South Africa . . . Alice Swain is a modernistic portrait painter. She paints people's souls, and people like to know what their souls look like . . . Jack Vetter is a dancing teacher in Boston. All of the elderly ladies flock to him because of his big, brown eyes . . . Lois Smith and Bonnie Finley are nurses in Honolulu, Hawaii. They have made researches into the subjects of melancholia, poliomyelitis, and native guitar-players . . . Jack Keim married the eldest daughter of the Duke of Windsor and his wife and is now the president of Canada . . . Allen Ecton is the president of the New York State Bar Association, and has written two text-books on torts . . . Janet Lowell is a young matron in the more vicious sense of the words and has won eleven lamps as bridge prizes . . . Jack Risser is a star in Hollywood. He is typed as a Romantic Male, and has succeeded Mary Pickford as America's Sweetheart . . . Virginia Keys is now Mrs. Bob Sommers. Bob is an old-fashioned political boss . . . Jessie Fairly is one of the editors of Vogue. She also designs hats—mostly real tall . . . Betty Jane Brown is a professor of otohemineurasthenia at Johns Hopkins Medical college . . . Marian Dille, the Women's Amateur Ping-pong Champion, married a stockbroker . . . Bob Stripp runs a hamburger stand in Timbuctoo. He stopped the natives' cannibalism by feeding them big, luscious hamburgers . . . Gale Bollinger's husband is the governor of Illinois. She has two children, Eric, III and Lillian . . . Dick Latham runs a private detective agency . . . Roberta Olson is a model for the ads. She is known as "the most photographed girl in America" . . . Peggy Lou Manring—"Toots" to you—sells boots and shoes in a fashionable haberdashery on Park Avenue . . . Walt Gunn is the superintendent of a detention home in Mexico City, New Mexico . . . Milt Dean Hill manufactures canary food, guaranteed to keep lice away . . . Max Capper is a farmer in Iowa. He likes to experiment and has produced tomatoes with eyes in them, for instance . . . Helen Lynd, the well-known lecturer and author of "Flakes of Snow"—a best-seller—wears a monocle . . . Buddy Burks is the greatest football coach at Notre Dame since Rockne. He has won every game but one since he's been there . . . Dorothy Booth owns an apple-ranch in Oregon. She likes the work because apples, she feels, are the fundamental fruit . . . Frances Day models silk stockings for the Realsilk Co. She has a devoted husband and has successfully combined a home and a career . . . Waller Heck is a rich playboy. His hobby is giving away Packards. Just ask him for one and he'll give it to you . . . Dorothy Dean Stump married a sheep-rancher in Australia. They own 1,000 acres of land and 11,000 sheep . . . Neale Bakker sells brass doorknobs. They're brass because he needs a lot of brass to stick his feet in a door and keep it there until they buy a doorknob . . . Jean Hoare is a foreign correspondent for the New York Sun. She isn't located in any one city, but travels around from place to place . . .

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Henry Lee Warren, president of the Junior class, was a member of the Keats, the Spanish club, the National Honor Society and the Paseon staff. He was a member of the second-team basketball squad and track manager.

Roger Frangkiser, a proud possessor of a second-team football letter, was a Junto and the vice-president of his class.

Norma DeJarnette, noted for her singing, was a Zeta, on the Press staff, active in Girl Reserves, and the secretary of the Junior class.

Betty Michel was the ingenue in the fall play. She was an officer of the Cynthians, a member of the Girl Reserve cabinet, and the treasurer of the Junior class.

Barbara Reber was the junior chairman of the Girl Reserves. She was a member of the Paseon staff, the German club, and the National Honor Society. This charity speaker was an officer of the Chess club, the Cynthians, and the gift receiver of her class.

Len Nelson, one of the up-and-coming members of the R. O. T. C., was also a member of the National Honor Society, and the Keats literary club. He was reporter of the Junior class.

Harold Lewis, a pleasing member of the Keats club, was on the second basketball team and sergeant-at-arms of the Junior class.

SCHOLARSHIP

Without scholarship, no institution can be called a school, for intellectual development is, after all, the fundamental reason for the founding of any school.

There is a popular belief that if a student does classroom work of a high grade, that he will be a failure in life. Perhaps there have been some cases of this kind, but there are many more who are successful as high-school students and who are successful elsewhere.

The following list contains the names of a few representatives of each graduating class who were excellent students in high school and who later did fine work in college, or who have since been successes in a variety of fields.

CLASS of 1927:

Robert McCreight, John Maitland, Gregory Pick.

CLASS of 1928:

Mike Eitelman, Leftage Hale, Katherine Morris.

CLASS of 1929:

George Boyd, Ruth Burnley, Albert Fizzell, Fred Kiel, Herbert Roush, John Rumsey.

CLASS of 1930:

Elsie Goldbeck, Richard Lynn, Gilbert Palen, Christian Rick, Marjorie Parcell, Felice Stampfle, Danae Walters, Elizabeth Wilkes.

CLASS of 1931:

Lewis Blackburn, Wells Burton, James Burnley, Dale Franse, Burdette Heinemann, Glen Lambert, Harriet Levene, Alfred Rosenstock.

CLASS of 1932:

John Bowser, Martin Goldbeck, Jack Lortz, Harry Myers, Edward Nauman, Kenneth Scott, Robert Steele, Louis Wolfson.

CLASS of 1933:

Ryburn Hackler, Virginia Lee Hunt, Dena Krehbiel, Gerald Novorr, Virginia Papenhauser, Virginia Pfeiffer, Forest Richardson, Helen Louise Schmidt, Robert Stampfle, Jefferson Wilkerson.

CLASS of 1934:

Paul Brown, Kenneth Fox, Winford Ferry, Morris Kaplan, Roberta Jean Lutz, Oliver Payne, Elizabeth Spector, Donald Shiner, Leonard Strauss.

CLASS of 1935:

Mary Harbord, John Horton, Morris Hughes, Dorothy Quant, Grace Player, Annabelle Roth, Robert Skinner, Charles Stipp, Fred Zumsteg.

CLASS of 1936:

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The members of the National Honor Society are elected on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership and service. Election is limited to about ten per cent of the senior class and one per cent of the junior class. The induction ceremony was held April 29. Rabbi Mayerberg gave the speech of the event. The rest of the program was given by members of the society.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The Quill and Scroll is an international honorary organization for high-school journalists. Just as the National Honor Society urges students on to greater efforts for the privilege of being on its roster, being a member of the Quill and Scroll is the goal of students in the newswriting classes. Every spring Miss Crissman chooses for the Quill and Scroll students who have rendered signal service to the cause of journalism in Paseo, and who have the proper grade average. Thus the Quill and Scroll makes for a better press, and Paseo is fortunate in having a chapter.

English

One of the aims of the English department has been not only "Remember who you are," but also "Remember who you are to be." In other words, the English department strives to give all Paseo boys and girls the ability to read on the level of their real maturity.

Oliver Payne, midshipman of U. S. Navy and a graduate of Paseo was asked, "How has the English department of Paseo helped you in the work you are doing?" He answered in the following way:

"To answer completely your question, 'How has the English Department of Paseo helped you in the work you are doing?' is a difficult problem. This is particularly true since my study under that department includes the enjoyable year I spent in working with the Paseo Press. The good effects of my comparatively short course in this department are many and varied, some being intangible and even unknown to me. However, there are a few results of that instruction which stand out clearly in my mind, and I shall confine my answer to them.

"The English course opened to me the great field of literature, the treasure house of the life and letters of the ages. The effects of this one gift have been inestimable in their scope. By living the adventures, loves, and tragedies, the successes and the failures of many lives through the written experiences of others, we have an X-ray of life and of human nature which we can get in no other way. By reading the biographies of great people, we see how better to live our own lives. Through informative books we acquire the store of knowledge which gives explanation and meaning to the natural phenomena around us.

"The study in English gave me training in self-expression, in putting into words my thoughts and my reactions to the thoughts of others. It gave me training in analysis, in the ability to select the real intellectual nourishment from each full-page meal. It gave me a clearer, more full appreciation of the arts, the universal medium of expression for our higher emotions. It taught me that in books we have an almost inexhaustible source of information on very nearly any subject one can name.

"While each of these qualities is valuable in entering on any field of endeavor, the art of self-expression, both written and oral, and the ability to analyze human nature are absolute necessities to an officer in any arm of our national defense, which I hope to be."

Kenneth Fox, also a prominent graduate of Paseo, when asked the same question, replied, "The benefits of a practical nature have been evidenced in by work as a feature writer and reporter for the Kansas City Star during the last four summers. Moreover, the introduction to English literature I received in Miss Week's senior class has served as a solid and useful guide for my sparetime reading and for the advanced English courses I have taken at Washington University."

Languages

Miss Cody

Mr. Constant

Miss Ada

Miss Be

It is a sure fact that all of the seniors recall the aptitude test which was held in the fall and how their gray matter was taxed trying to define many English words.

The English language is an outgrowth of many languages although basically it originated from the Anglo-Saxon. (Therefore, it can be easily seen how the students who had already had some foreign languages would profit by that fact.) An excellent example of this is the fact that Richard Shope, who had four years of Latin, made the highest score on the senior aptitude test.

The prime purpose of all the languages such as German, Spanish and French is to help the students to develop a fundamental vocabulary of that specific language and to obtain a general idea of the history, ideals, and cultural background of the country.

Through the study of Latin the student develops a better understanding of their own language and a richer appreciation of literature. In finding people who had profited by training in the languages an outstanding example of a person who profited indirectly was Louis Wolfson who is now doing graduate work at the University of Chicago. He is working for his doctor's degree in biological chemistry and was offered an assistantship this fall.

There are numerous other people who could be mentioned, such as Frank Hicken, a former German student who is now attending Junior college; Ann Corbin, a former Spanish student who is attending the University of Kansas City, and Maureen Boyer, a student of French who is now attending Junior college.

HISTORY

When we think of history many of us have a vague idea about dates and battles but after taking the required history courses at Paseo the average student finds this is not the purpose of history courses at all, but that a history course involves acquiring knowledge, the discovery of trends of thoughts, and the interpretation of events.

Mr. Fred Kiel, at one time a student of Paseo, is now a member of the faculty of the history department of the University of New Mexico.

Mr. Jack Lortz, a graduate of Paseo, is now teaching history in the high school of Sand Springs, Oklahoma, which is a suburb of Tulsa.

We are proud of the fact that our own history department gave them the foundation for their chosen profession.

science

Science at Paseo is taken up in two ways. One, through academic subjects and two, through extra-curricular activities.

Mr. Shirling, a former student and now an instructor in our science department, has said, "Many have asked me which had the greater influence, academic work or extra-curricular activities. To this I must reply that each played a part. Outstanding among my memories are two factors which had a great influence on my life work. One was an "outside" activity which helped guide my interests into the field of nature and thus into the field of Biological Science. I am speaking of the Muir club of which I was a member. On the other hand, I feel I must give my Botany course an equal amount of credit for increasing my interest in the natural sciences. I have mentioned only those factors which directed me most toward the choice of Biology as a field for teaching. Pages could be written about my other courses in high school which enabled me to be in a position to take up teaching as a profession."

Science has also proven to be the foundation for others to work from in building their careers. Miss Ruth Burnley, a graduate has said, "Paseo high school made a very important contribution to my preparation for work as bacteriologist at the Minnesota State Department of Health. My interest in science was stirred and a firm foundation was laid for later studies in that field."

Of the many students who took science at Paseo a few case histories have been traced and the following facts found:

Lewis Blackburn, '31, physics; graduated in electrical engineering at the University of Illinois; now with Westinghouse at Newark, New Jersey.

Edward Hill, '27, is in the United States Forestry Service.

Danae Walters, '30, Ph.D. in Chemistry from Johns Hopkins University; now doing advanced work in Leipzig, Germany.

Wallace Graham, '29, has recently been doing graduate study in medicine in Vienna and Budapest.

Morris Hughes, '35, chemist with the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company in their refinery at Augusta, Kansas.

These are but a few of the many who have really profited from their work in the science courses here at Paseo.

Mathematics

Mathematics, one of the most difficult courses offered in any high school has been referred to by William F. Brenizer, a former student and now instructor of mathematics at the Lathrop Polytechnic Institute, as the most exact of all sciences. Says Mr. Brenizer further:

"Though it has been some eight years, I still recall with much pleasure many happy experiences as a student at Paseo. Now as a teacher myself I am often reminded in many ways how vital to me have been the splendid influences exerted by those fine members of the faculty under whose guidance it was my good fortune to come, especially how much my teachers in mathematics at Paseo contributed to my understanding and love of the most exact of all sciences. At the time, my natural ability in that field seemed none to extensive, but the wise and patient direction which they so willingly gave to me was sufficient to make mathematics so wholly a part of my being, that I not only resolved to continue with it, but to make the teaching of it my life work.

Miss Davis Mr. Listrom Miss Redmond Miss Kaufman

"Perhaps their chief contributions to me were two in number: first, to impress upon my mind the all-important point of view that success in every succeeding step in mathematics depends mainly on how well each preceding step was mastered, and second, a wholesome appreciation of the entire field of study. It would seem that successful teaching and study of mathematics depends very largely on how well the student becomes aware of these two insights and how much he learns to appreciate their value.

"My sincerest appreciation and highest regards belong to Miss Kaufman, Miss Redmond, Mr. Ogg, and to the others who have since joined ranks to aid them in their splendid work. May their wise and unselfish service long continue to be a part of Paseo tradition."

STUDY HALL

The study halls of Paseo offer the students an opportunity to get or complete lessons. A spirit of interest and courtesy has developed in the study halls.

Due to the crowded conditions it has been necessary to use the cafeteria for a study hall, but this has not affected the splendid attitude of the students.

Under the supervision of Miss Lytle, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Jackson, Miss Browdy, Miss McMaster, Miss Williams, Miss Wright, Mr. Listrom and Mr. Fisher, the study halls are gaining popularity.

PASEO PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Mrs. E. M. Douthat, president of the Paseo Parent-Teacher Association, has this to say about the work of the association:

"The object of the Parent-Teacher Association is to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community. The fine cooperation between faculty and the Parent-Teacher Association of Paseo high school contributes much to the success we achieve. Our membership this year increased to 687, the largest gain of any high school in the city. All parents are urged to attend the meetings held in the school auditorium, the fourth Tuesday of each month.

The Mutual Help center, maintained by the Kansas City Parent-Teacher Associations, furnished clothing to an average of one thousand children a month this year, and many scholarships are awarded worthy children by the scholarship foundations to which we contribute each year.

THE LIBRARY

Do you want a place to study in peace and quiet?

Do you need a report for a class?

Are you in need of amusement to make your leisure hours pass quickly?

The library is the answer to all of your needs.

Once upon a time libraries were regarded simply as places in which to keep books; storehouses for knowledge where greater stress was laid on the preservation of records than on the use.

Today the use of the public library is an integral part of modern living—lending assistance in all social, educational and recreational needs.

ACTIVITIES

When a graduate looks back on his years in Paseo, what does he think of as his most valuable acquisition from the school? What courses or activities seem important to him? Probably no two people would give exactly the same answer to these questions.

There can be no question but that classroom work is the primary reason for the existence of the school, but the other activities, those usually called "extra-curricular," may make a great impression on a student.

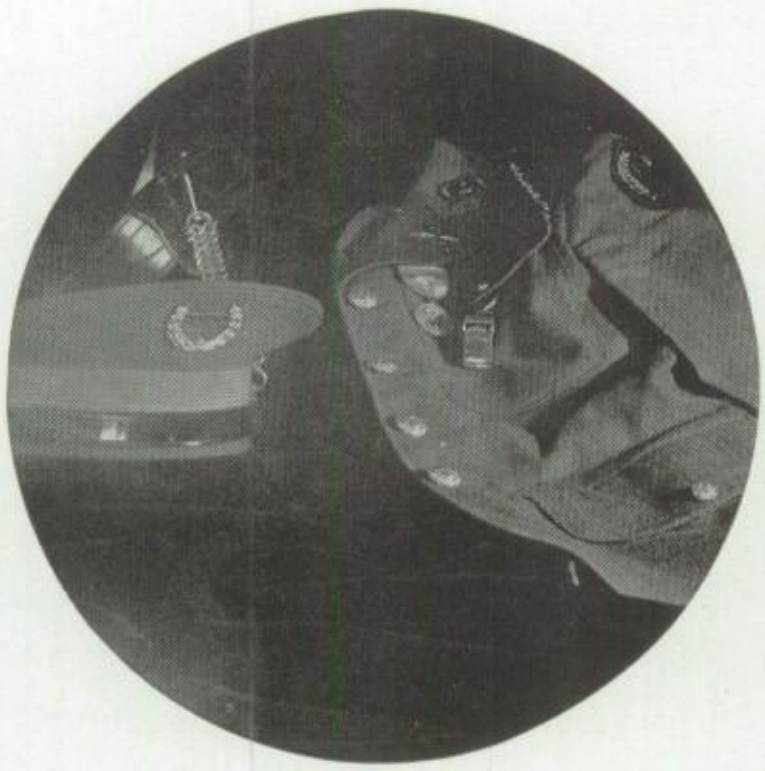
Morris Hughes, '35, who was in every sense a student, a member of the National Honor Society, and a leader in school activities, offers the following opinion on the value of activities:

"The extra-curricular activities are the school itself. We are required to go to mathematics, language, and science classes, but we choose the activities which shall occupy our leisure. We shall be required to work at our careers, but our hobbies will be of our choosing. In the end, our work and the important people we are required to meet will fix our pecuniary status, but the friends we select and the voluntary interests we acquire will determine our real happiness.

If the editors of this volume may be forgiven for attempting to enlarge upon the excellent statement made by the editor of the 1935 Paseon, we should like to add another thought.

If any school activity gives to us an abiding interest in any worthy pursuit, then that activity has been worth all the time and effort we have expended on it. As a people, we are apt to have an increasing amount of leisure time. The interests we get in school activities may be the means of using that leisure time in profitable ways. As Mr. Hughes has pointed out, those things which we do because we want to do them are likely to be of more lasting value than some of the things we do because we are required to.

Mr. Hughes adds one other bit of advice which may seem unnecessary to high-school students, but which may be worth remembering in years to come. He says, "Never forget how to play, for when you do you have become old." We hope you will read this again in 1960. By that time, you seniors of 1938 will be approaching the age of forty. We wonder if you will be old.



R.O.T.C

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps was designed to train leaders; both civil and military. It is organized in such a way that it places students in positions of responsibility and gives them actual leadership experience. Cadets learn by actual practice to express themselves before a group; it develops a higher regard for authority; it teaches individuals to act on their own initiative, builds their self-confidence and the drill training causes them to be habitually alert and erect.

Paseo's cadet major this year was Conrad Marvin. Last year he was the corporal of the "crack" squad at the field meet in which he received the first place American Legion Efficiency Medal as the best drilled cadet below the rank of an officer. At the beginning of this school year he was promoted to the rank of second lieutenant, and then, in October, to captain. On December 20 Conrad Marvin was promoted to command the Paseo battalion.

Staff Sergeant
Edwin M. Hess

Representing Paseo in this year's annual R. O. T. C. circus was a company inspection with Conrad Marvin inspecting. Cadet Captain John Scott commanded the company with Cadet First Lieutenant Richard Burlile as the second in command. Commanding the platoons were Cadet First Lieutenant Robert Hanger and Cadet Second Lieutenant Leo Hall. A touch of comedy was added by the clowning antics of Bill Bartholdt and Joe Crawford.

To Leo Hall went the honor of receiving the Lawrence Swem memorial saber as the battalion's outstanding second lieutenant.

Acting as battalion adjutant this year, was Cadet Second Lieutenant Bill Rehman.

In the War Department inspection of May, 1937, the unit ranked as second in the city, which is the highest rating Paseo has ever received. Also, the battalion won second honors at last year's field meet.

"Our record in the inspection and at the field meet demonstrates that the Paseo battalion is improving year by year," stated Staff Sergeant Edwin M. Hess, R. O. T. C. instructor, in summing up the year's work.

COMMERCE

Immediately after graduating from Paseo, a young man left for the eastern part of the United States on a pleasure trip. One day while loafing in a downtown office, the president of the company came barging in, yelling for his stenographer. She was not there. The young man offered to take the dictation and transcribe it for him. After the typewritten letter was handed him, the young man was promptly hired for some temporary work. The temporary work kept on until the following spring when he was given charge of part of the company's accounting records. This young man was Harold Damsgard. When writing of this incident he said, "I know my knowledge of shorthand and typing got me my first work and my knowledge of general accounting helped me to hold it. When I started to work all the business knowledge I had came from high-school study, and of course the high school was Paseo."

Incidents of this kind are reminders of the value of the work of the commerce department. There are many of Paseo's graduates who have been able to secure positions because of their high-school training. Many more have been given an interest in further business training, so that they have continued their work in other schools.

Among the graduates of Paseo, one who is known to nearly every student, is Miss Martha Jean Goodrich, an assistant in the commerce department. Miss Goodrich received her first training in the department in which she is now teaching, and was stenographer of the 1932 Paseon.

Household Mechanical Arts

The home economics department offers girls an opportunity to make clothing and prepare food, as well as receive general experience in home making. They also receive general information on color combinations in planning the fashion show. A fashion show is held every year for the entertainment of the parents and the student body.

The students in the clothing, foods and boys' home economics classes were ably supervised by Miss Wulfekammer, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Warren.

The industrial arts department presents such practical courses as printing, drafting, woodwork, and metal work. Although none of these courses would make a skilled printer or draftsman, they give the student a strong foundation for future study. The faculty of the industrial arts department was composed of Mr. Campbell, Mr. Guisinger, Mr. Lortz and Mr. Voth.

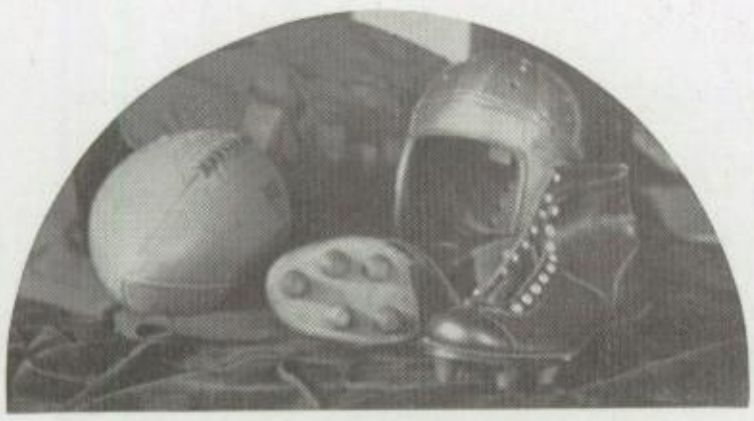
Boys' Home Economics



BOYS' athletics

A school is known far and wide not only by the scholars it turns out but also by its athletes and athletics.

As always, Paseo is proud of its athletes. Although it was not their good fortune to win all games participated in, Paseo's athletes were continually alert to the fact that this school's representatives were aboveboard in regard to sportsmanlike conduct. Whether on the field or off, these boys were continually characterized as persons with high ideals, and fine characters.

Cooperation is a great factor in athletics —teamwork is also necessary for life work. In football were it not for the close harmony of the entire eleven players, then, the one who gets the cheers and is the "hero" because of the goals he "makes" would not have a chance to be so selected. Likewise in basketball.

And foul play is always outlawed. Referees continually are on the lookout for fouls and when these few instances are found, a penalty is invoked. In this way, fair-play is the thing necessary and present.

No boy whose scholastic record forbids is eligible for any of the athletic teams. In the Boys' Athletics Department, there are five sports in which interscholastic competition is promoted, namely: football, basketball, track, golf, and tennis. In this system the boys are given an opportunity to find out in what game they excell and thus develop a feeling of self-reliance. The rules and regulations of the gym department tend to help boys form the good habits which will direct their entire lives.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

The Lettermen's club, an organization formed completely for service to their school, and made up only of varsity or reserve lettermen who have taken part in interscholastic competition. Although athletes, these boys rank among some of the most active fellows in other fields.

This organization serves the school by aiding in the staging of all athletic events and through this service have become invaluable as an organization to Paseo high school.

It is to the memory of a former member of the lettermen's club that the Bernard Shrivers' Trophy has been dedicated in late years. The basketball player, who, in the minds of the faculty committee, best represents the qualities of leadership, sportsmanship, and citizenship is honored by his name being engraved on the silver loving cup.

The Paseo Bucs this year, although not a championship team, showed form, fight, and willingness. Coach Harley Selvidge was greatly handicapped by having only two weeks to mold a team from the 118 boys who reported for practice, but, despite this handicap he made a team with a spirit not to be denied. As always, the Paseo boys showed the best of sportsmanship, which is, after all, the main thing and the best thing any boy could get from the game.

In our pre-season game with Ward—which found Ward's all-state fullback, Francis Lynch, running over our line and through our backfield for a 20-0 score against us, we still gained needed experience and gave our coach better ideas about his boys.

The first Interscholastic League game found Paseo and Westport in a very closely matched game. Finally Dick Fooey, Westport halfback, ran off tackle for a sixty-yard run and for the only score of the game.

Thus, under the weight of two defeats, the Buc gridsters were a determined bunch and in our next game with Northeast, Paseo drove steadily toward the goal after having been scored on and in a spectacular finish Jack Vetter, fullback of Paseo, drove over for our only touchdown and then kicked the extra point winning the game 7-6.

The next game turned out to be the thriller of the year, being a steady grind when finally on the three-yard line, a Southwest Indian skirted the end for their only score. The tie for extra point was blocked by Corwin Bauer.

The next two games turned out disastrously for Paseo but even then our boys fought under the heaviest of odds. In these games, East beat 13-0 and Central, 31-0.

After the season Neale Bakker, a two-year letterman, was elected by his teammates as captain, and well he deserved it. The boys receiving first-team letters were: Don Shaffer, Vincent Badali, Neale Bakker, Jack Risser, Ted Stiles, Bob Sommer, Dick Douglas, Bob Stipp, Bob White, Jack Vetter, Jack Keim, Bob Shelton, Hollis Hartley, Bill Tracy, Corwin Bauer, Walter Burks and Bob Wood.

SECOND TEAM FOOTBALL

The Buc seconds although not a championship team this year were so drilled in the fundamentals of football that the hopes run high for next year.

This year Coach Bob Armour had charge of the second team and from an extraordinary large squad, molded a well-oiled team. A large number of the squad got to play, thus giving more fellows actual game experience. They played two games with Pembroke-Country Day in order to give even more of the fellows experience.

CHEERLEADERS

Did I hear somebody say something about our cheerleaders?

Of course you have seen them, as they stood out among the other schools not only because of the volume of cheers from the Paseo stands, but also because of their flashy uniforms.

Small, but most efficient, they were a material aid toward the school victories. The squad's enthusiasm was shown through the yells their leadership evoked for those "out there."

BASKETEERS

Coach Bob Armour, Paseo's basketball coach, and one of the best at that, has just turned out one of the fightingest, nerviest championship teams ever. This is his third championship team in seven starts which is a very good average. Joe Sparks was captain of the all-star team and high point man of the Interscholastic team.

In an interview with Coach Armour, the conversation ran thus:

"Well, Coach, what do you think of your team?"

"I am proud of my boys. They showed the spirit and fight that it takes to win ball games throughout the season, fighting till the last gun was fired.

"We started out badly but the boys didn't give up and they went on to win a co-championship."

The Buc basketeers dropped their two preliminary games to Ward and Rockhurst, the Bucs not being able to hit their stride in these games. These games, however, were valuable to Coach as their main purpose was a tryout for the boys and they served their purpose well.

In the opening game of the Interscholastic League the pirates found their stride and carried off the game from a highly favored Central team to the tune of 23-17.

Our next two games, however, went against us. Although we did lose by a fairly large score to Manual, 26-18, our loss to Westport was one of the most thrilling games of the year. In a thrilling finish Westport beat us 28-26. These were our only two losses in the Interscholastic League.

Our next games with Northeast and Southwest ended victoriously for us, easily taking Southwest 35-17, and taking Northeast in an exciting game 19-16.

The last, but not least game by far, was the most exciting. The Bucs went into this game with grim determination against a favored East team. Our only hopes for a championship were in the winning of this game. The game started, showing both teams evenly matched. Throughout the game there was an exchange of goals, both teams fighting hard for every point. Finally in the last few minutes of play the Bucs forged ahead to win by a 29-26 margin.

SECOND TEAM BASKETBALL

The Pirate second team spurred on by their first team showed all the fight and determination of a Pirate Crew and came out on top, winning the Interscholastic Second Team Championship.

These boys, trained right along with the first team by Coach Armour, were the opponents in scrimmage for the first team in practice, thus doing their bit toward the success of the first team.

The Bucs Second Team squad has high hopes of next year so "watch 'em go."

1937 TRACK SQUAD

Despite the fact that our '38 track team was seriously hurt by graduation, they gave every indication of living up to the high traditions and records established by the crew of '37! Although it is proving quite impossible to fill the gap made in the hurdles by the graduation of Metz and Compton, their place is being admirably filled by Fuller and Day. The marks established by Rouzer in the 880 and Leffler in the sprints and broadjump, will be hard to equal, but Davis, Maggio and Cayton will run a close race.

Although our team only finished third last year, there were five of the athletes who, through outstanding service, were chosen for all-state honors. There were Leonard Metz in the hurdles, M. L. Compton also in the hurdles, Leffler in the broadjump, Walter Rouzer in the 880, and Johnson in the shot-put.

The season started out with an overwhelming defeat at the hands of a more experienced Viking crew, and this was followed by a third place in the Kansas Relays, which was very good considering the fact that rain had delayed the practice for some time.

Although the win and lost column was not particularly impressive the team showed a brand of sportsmanship, which has become inherent with the athletic teams representing Paseo high school, and we may well be proud of the '37 Edition of our Buc Tracksters.

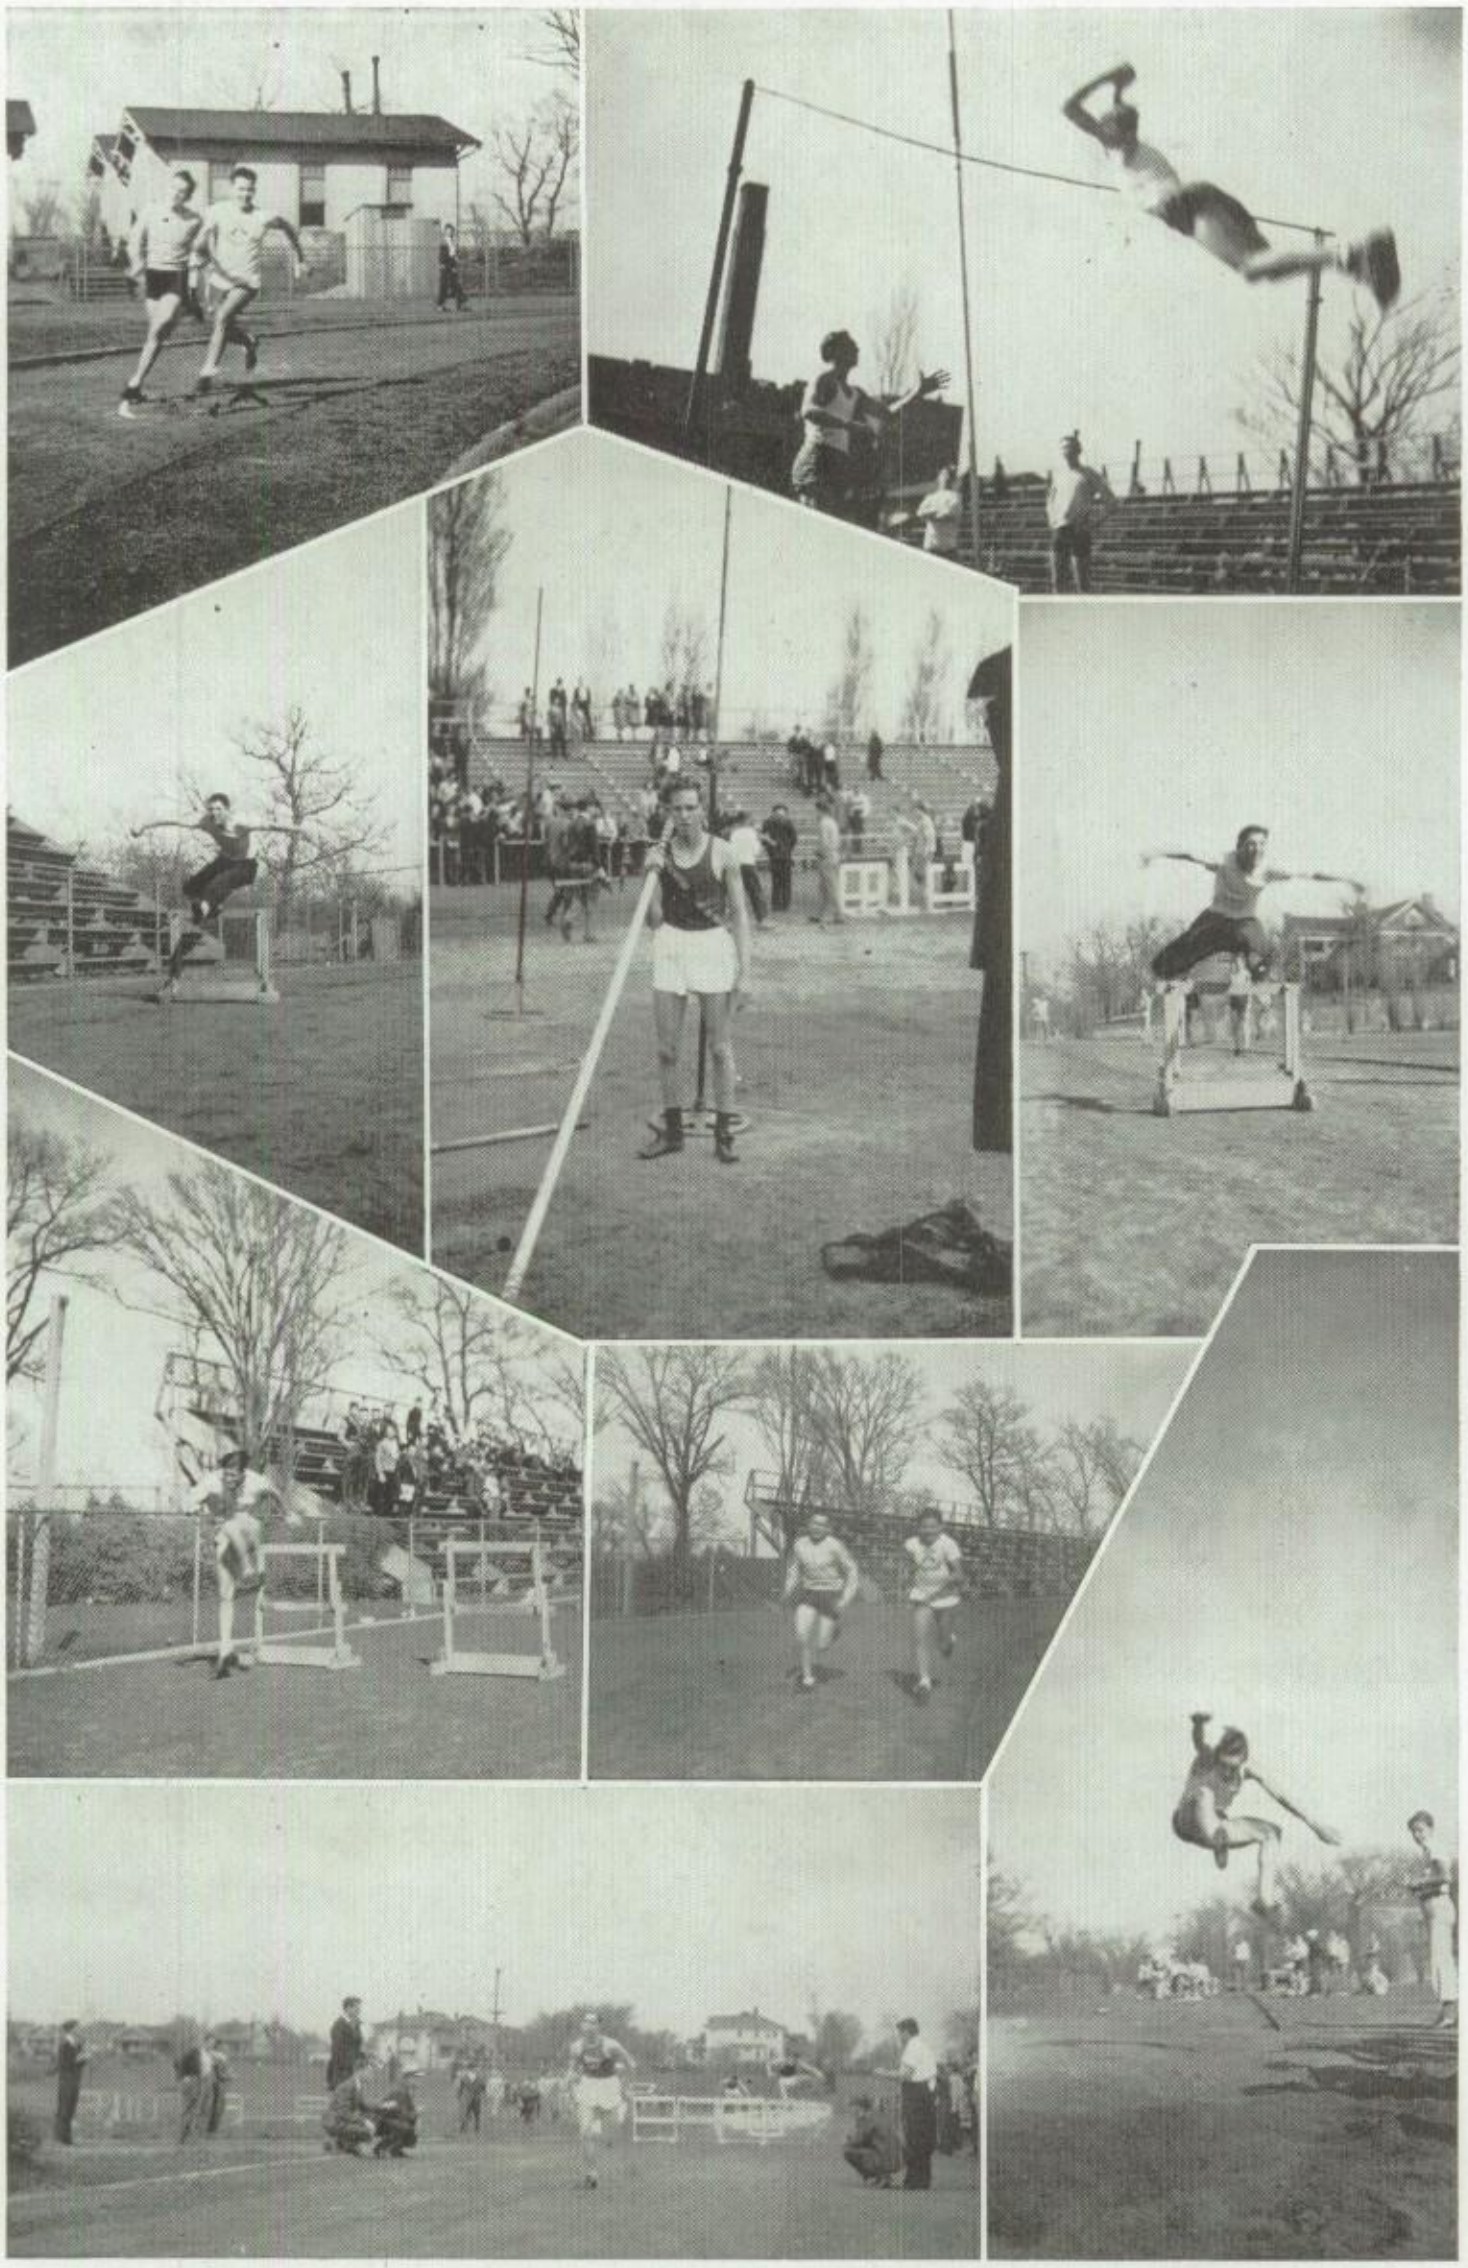
SQUAD OF '38

To come down to the present time, however, we find track talent plentiful for our '38 season. The Bucs have four returning lettermen, all who have proven their worth over and over again. These former lettermen were the foundation on which our '38 team was built. These fellows are John Shireman, pole vaulter; Dick Douglas, shot putter; Jack Mansfield, runner; and J. C. Davis, an all-around man. The other talent shown by the other members of the team is not to be denied and Paseo is considered a threat for the city championship. Under the guidance of Coach Ray Fisher, the team is fast molding into shape.

Our first dual meet with Central found Paseo up against one of the city's best, but although we were beaten, the boys didn't offer any alibi but set right in working all the harder, saying that they still had another chance at those fellows. In this meet John Shireman, junior, gave the best performance with an 11-foot vault. Dick Douglas and J. C. Davis also gave fine performances.

Our next meet was medley relays. In these relays the Paseo team showed the results of diligent work. The Bucs pulled up on Central, the team who had so crushingly defeated them the preceding meet so as to trail them by only one point. At this rate Paseo is not out of the running by any means.



— ON THE FIELD —

THE GOLF TEAM

GOLFERS, THREE TIMES CHAMPION

Paseo's crack golf team repeated for the third time in the Interscholastic Golf Tournament. Their hand of golf was far superior to any other team's in the league, their nearest competitor being 120 strokes behind them. The team started off at the beginning in the lead and held that lead throughout the year. Jack Dunbar and Fred Jones were alternates on the team and played with the two veterans, Captain Joe Hunt and Bob Clark. The team as a whole averaged 88, which is extremely good for high-school competition.

Captain Joe Hunt and Bob Clark, went to the state tournament at Columbia and won the state team championship. Bob Clark, last year's Captain, for the second successive time won the individual champions medal with a total of 320 strokes.

His nearest competitor was 20 strokes behind and thus he should be specially acknowledged.

TENNIS TEAM

The Bucs' tennis team, although not champions, showed considerable punch and drive in the tourney. The captain, Junior Gaines, drove his way to the finals but was beaten, in a closely-fought battle, by Panich, of Westport, who took our other singles representative, "Southpaw" Sol Samazin, out of the running.

In doubles, our representatives were Harold Lewis and George Spink as one team, and Howard Friedman and Ira Stein as the other.

First Row, Left to Right: Bernard Arbeiter, Bill Newby, Oscar Kincaid, Robert Anderson, Marvin Dworetsky, Frank Stallbories, Joe Gunther, Bob Stephenson, Sidney Carr. Second Row: James Heydon, Tom Doran, Glen Cole, Dan Russell, Robert McIntosh, John Hughes, Paul Wilson, Tom Cooper, Joe Frank Passantino. Third Row: Howard Hassett, Bill McBride, Tom Noonan, Howard Friedman, Bruce McCullough, Howard Kobuset, Richard Blanton, Richard Lee. Fourth Row: Fred Roland, Bob Jackson, Robert Uzzell, Lewis Aines, Russell Stuckey, Clarence Luchsinger, Jimmy White, Ralph Hughes, Kenneth Rimel. Fifth Row: Wendell Lind, Lawrence Campbell, Jeff Perky, Harold Hendrix, Harry Heinemann, Gerald La Matry, J. BOYS' GYM HOME ROOM

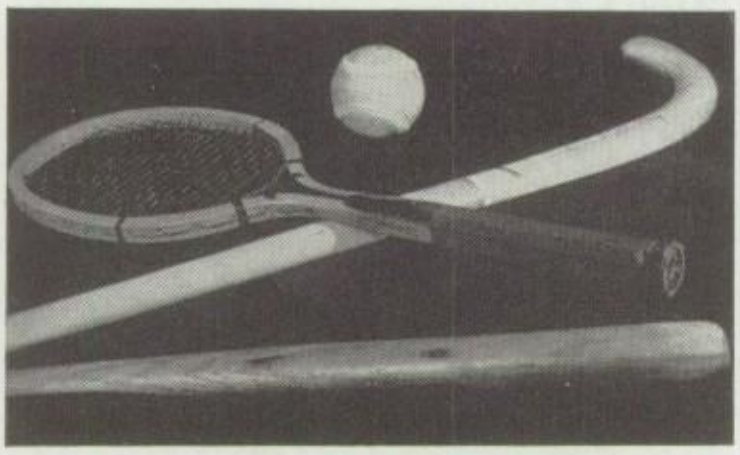
The officers of the gym home rooms were: Fred Roland and William Ragle, presidents; Harold Hendrix and Richard Lee, vice-presidents; Junior Murphy and Bob Stephenson, secretaries; Raymond Shelley and Stanley Hansen, treasurers; Robert Cooksey and Richard Palmer, sergeants-at-arms; Glen Cole and Billy Ayers, reporters; Harry Heinemann, William Ragle and Richard Lee, Student Council representatives; Johnny Hughes and Bob Stephenson, alternates.



GIRLS' athletics

Doing its share toward preparing its students for social success is the Girls' Gym Department under the able supervision of Dr. Hoernig, Mrs. Kretz, and Miss Smith. Each instructor does her best in guiding the girls in their duty of developing strong bodies and a sense of sportsmanship through the medium of athletics. Individual games, outdoor sports, and dancing, each do their part in constructing bodies, and correct attitude of soundness. Indoor sports participated in are Volleyball, Basketball, and Captain Ball; outdoor sports, Hockey, Baseball, and Soccer.

To each girl in the class is given a chance to be a member of an athletic team. This aids her in gaining points toward her school letter. Seventy-five points gain for her a letter, which in turn entitles her to membership in the Atalantas, an honorary girls' athletic organization.

For each additional seventy-five points, respectively, a shield and a chevron are awarded. Captains of the various teams are awarded stars; members of the Honor Rolls, gold honor bars; while managers receive an arm band and emblems signifying the sports of which they are manager.

Members of the different classes meet in competition in the after-school tournaments which are enjoyed with great enthusiasm by the participants.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS

To Thelma Rothrock went the honor of being manager of that thrilling fall sport, Hockey. She has been a member of some athletic team all four years and is one of the outstanding girls in the girls' athletic department. Jane Hill, manager of Basketball, the most exciting sport of the year, has the highest number of points of any girl in the athletic department, and has been on all of the athletic teams. Jerry Cross was manager of Volleyball, one of the indoor sports. She was competent in every way and during the Volleyball season kept things running smoothly. With spring came baseball; Mary Stone as manager. She has been on many of the athletic teams and has held several offices in the Atalantas. Jenell Jarrett has charge of the tennis tournaments. This is quite a job as she is responsible for making the matches and seeing that they are played off at the right time.

The junior managers are: Helen Bell, captain ball; Catherine Bennett, baseball; Lois Shields, soccer; Margie Ake, social dancing; Mary Walters, volleyball; Bobbie McNeal, points, and Charlotte Mason, hit-pin baseball.

ATALANTAS

To instill in the girls the love of wholesome activity; to develop girls with organic vigor, nervous energy, and strong muscles; to emphasize participation in all sports; to set high ideals and arouse the ambition to fulfill them; to make girls capable of quick thinking and quick acting; and to make girls good sports at all times, is the high objective of the Atalantas, the honorary girls' athletic club.

But besides having received seventy-five points in athletic competition and thus receiving her school letter, a girl, before becoming a member of this organization, must be voted upon by the entire group. Not only must her grades average an "M", but also she must have been on one of the first teams during the year.

This year the Atalantas successfully presented a "Gym Frolic" which was given in the girls' gym. There, pupils from the entire school danced to the music of the Mixer Orchestra, and various games were played. Miss Smith is ordinarily the club's adviser, but in her absence, Dr. Hoernig took this responsibility.

The officers for both semesters were: Jane Hill, president; Thelma Rothrock and Jenell Jarrett, vice-presidents; Jenell Jarrett and Jerry Cross, secretaries; Jerry Cross and Betty Shelton, treasurers; Lois Edward and Marjorie McNeal, sergeants-at-arms; Bobbie McNeal and Lois Shields, reporters; Mary Stone, historian.

For the first time in the history of the club, one person, Jane Hill, was elected president for the entire year.

HOCKEY

In spite of several bruised shins and other minor injuries, hockey is one of the favorite sports in the girls' gym activities. This year, as in previous years, a tournament was held after school between the various classes. Thelma Rothrock, the student manager, formed the plans for this tournament. The seniors were captained by Jenell Jarrett, the juniors by Helen Bell, and sophomores by Marjorie McNeal and Julia Robb. There was much competition, but the seniors finally came out ahead.

BASKETBALL

After the hockey season, the girls' interests turn to winter sports, of which basketball is the most popular. Dr. Hoernig was the basketball coach and Jane Hill, the student manager. From the girls who turned out for the after-school tournament an all-star team was chosen from each class.

This year the sophomores, captained by Pat Gordon, won the tournament. The juniors, captained by Catherine Bennett and Charlotte Mason, came in second; and the seniors, captained by Maxine Gille, came in third. The games were played in the girls' gym and no admission was charged to watch the games.

VOLLEY BALL

The volley ball season, which immediately follows the basketball season, was managed this year by Jerry Cross. The intramural tournament proved to be an exciting one for all of the teams. The captain of the senior team was Betty Shelton; of the juniors, Lois Shields and Shirley Todd; and of the sophomores, Dorothy Stucker and Nadine Fugett. The tournament this year ended in a tie between the seniors and Shirley Todd's junior team.

BASEBALL, 1937

As the baseball season ends too late for the results to be published in the annual, each year the results of the tournament of the previous year are recorded.

The seniors, now alumni of Paseo, won the 1937 baseball tournament. The seniors were captained by Maxine Grogran; the juniors by Maxine Gille; and sophomores by Marie Untrif and Patty Rex.

Mary Stone, student baseball manager, has charge of the interclass tournament to be played this spring.

SWIMMING, TENNIS AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

Every Monday after school at Westport Junior High School, a swimming class is held for any girl interested in swimming. Points towards the school letter are awarded for perfect attendance at the class and for passing the beginners', swimmers' and life-saver's tests.

The tennis tournament, which was started last fall, was unable to be finished this spring due to conditions outside of the reach of the department. At the close of the tournament last fall the following girls were ahead: Jane Hill, Charlotte Mason, Betty Shelton, Maxine Gille and Pat Gordon. Jenell Jarrett was the student manager of tennis.

To prepare girls for an active social life, individual games, such as can be played at parties, are taught. This year a tournament was held after school to determine the winner in each game. The winner of hand tennis was Helen Bell; of horseshoes, Maxine Gille; and of shuffle-board, Bernice Morris and Betty Palmer, juniors; Dorothy Johnson and Cecilia Daniels, sophomores; Dorothy Elliott and Ernestine Arbeiter, freshmen.

FRESHMAN SPORTS

As a preliminary to hockey, to teach girls the proper use of their arms and legs, soccer is played by the freshman classes. The manager of soccer was Lois Shields.

Managed by Mary Walters, four giant volley ball teams were formed, captained by Virginia Westfall, Barbara McPheeters, Marjorie Reinholdt, and Dorothy Stalcup.

Captain ball, a build-up to basketball, was managed by Helen Bell. Four teams were formed, captained by Carol Eastman, Marian Montgomery, Charleen Peltzman, and Marjorie Venell.

Charlotte Mason, manager of hit-pin baseball, said, "It is played because it is a lead-up to baseball and soccer." The captains were Frankie Dozier, Dorothy Prather, Dorothy McCarthy, and Mildred Boston.

CLUBS

During the four—I hope—years you spend in high school, you will change more than during almost any other four years of your life. Put a picture taken when you graduated from ward school beside a picture taken when you graduate from Paseo and you will laugh.

If you can remember, your thoughts and actions at that time were different than they were when you graduated. Your interests and activities grew broader as you grew older. Your life as a freshman was a foundation for your life as a senior. Perhaps you entered high school with no accomplishments but piano playing. For one of your non-solids, you chose music. By the time you were a senior, you sang in the A Cappella Choir, and your church choir. Music, singing as well as playing, is one of your hobbies.

There are so many clubs at Paseo that are connected with studies, that no one could take all of them. It is necessary to pick and choose. For instance, German and Spanish both lead to membership in clubs, but during your high-school career you will hardly be able to belong to both of them. In the Spanish club, the members speak Spanish at the meetings, play Spanish games, sing Spanish songs, study Spain and its customs (minus machine-guns), and eat American food, such as fudge and divinity. The activities of the German club are similar.

The students in the Social Science department may belong to the Sociology club, which studies social trends such as crime and divorce.

The study of the sciences: biology, botany, etc., leads to membership in the Muir and Agassiz clubs, which go on interesting excursions in Swope Park.

The Home Economics club, the Atalantas, and Lettermen's club are all out-growths of non-solids. Besides their regular activities, they have feasts. Of course, that is right along the line of the Home Economics club.

The special interest clubs provide places where students can gather and practice their hobbies together. The Chess club, Stamp club, Silhouette club, and the Camera club are examples of such organizations.

There are eight literary societies at Paseo. They elect their own members, who have grade requirements. While these grade requirements may at first glance seem to have no real purpose, they do make members keep up their grades—but definitely. At the end of the year, all the societies cooperate in throwing an Inter-Society dance, and the societies have other activities during the year.

SILHOUETTE CLUB

The Silhouette club, under the direction of Miss Johnson, has become firmly established this year and looks forwards to a successful future.

Last spring, Mrs. Lurene Diehl, an experienced "silhouettist," was working in various ward schools of the city, making silhouettes of the small children. Because of the publicity attached to her activities, much interest was aroused at Paseo, and Miss Johnson started the club.

Mrs. Diehl is an honorary member of the club and has contributed many valuable suggestions. This year the club has widened its activities to include other forms of art. They visited the studio of Edna Marie Dunn, sketched the Nelson Art Gallery, and made Christmas gifts and cards.

SPRING
JANE HILL

AND MOST IMPORTANT . . .

No matter how much knowledge a person may have gained, nor how many activities he may have engaged in, if he does not develop character, he cannot be worth much to himself or to society. It is fitting, then, to dedicate the last section of this book to character, and to those finer qualities that we expressed in music and art.

Character is a broad term. It covers a great many traits that cannot be defined, though any of us can distinguish good character from bad. There are so many ways in which training at Paseo has aided in character formation that it is impossible to recount them. Perhaps there is no better way to indicate how the school has aided in this respect than to quote from some letters which we have received from alumni.

Charles K. Gibson, '30, sends us the following statement, which throws some light on the development of a fine character:

"Oddly enough, I shall always regard the Paseon as the medium through which I derived the greatest benefits of my four years in Paseo. When a junior, in '29, I was usually downtown by three o'clock in the afternoon earnestly canvassing business firms for an 'ad' in the Paseon. The greatest obstacle to overcome was my own fear of opening the door and stepping into an office. Once inside I would then contact the proper person if possible and explain briefly that the Paseo school district was composed of families with above-average buying capacity, whose sons and daughters would carry home a Paseon in the spring. Some of the acquaintances I made in this way developed into friendships that still hold.

"In short, from the classrooms I obtained a background—through my connection with the Paseon the background was put to use to develop the ability to meet people and make friends.

" 'Remember Who You Are' has taken on a greater meaning each successive year since I first heard it, and I know of others that can say likewise."

Mr. Gibson is now associated with the Comptometer Company.

And another graduate of Paseo, Charles Francis Hardin, brother of Miss Iva Hardin, teacher of history here, and district manager of the Woodmen of the World Extension Department in Nevada, sends us the following:

"Three things stand out most in my mind. In my present work the things I learned in Miss Thomas' psychology class help me most. There I learned that character could not be judged on sight in all fairness to both parties. It also taught me how to deal with other persons. In my work I must meet and talk with people every day, but it is not all talk. I must know how to listen and then, when I do talk, get to the point at once. I remember in that class it was required of the students to give reports on outside reading. This has taught me two things: First, not to ramble but to stick to the subject; second, my practice of talking to that small class has helped me to talk to larger groups such as different lodges which I visit in my district. Also I am being called on at various times to appear before different bodies to give talks and that training is helping me in everyday life and business.

"Then, I must say I am very glad to state that as I drive around the country and see the different plant life, I am thankful to Miss Molony and her botany class that I understand the beauty of plant life even down to the lowly sage brush."

For another year the business of the school has been successfully transacted by its governing body, the Student Council. While the greater part of the work is carried on by the various committees, the entire council makes the final decision concerning any product. Included in the Student Council activities were the selling of the Paseon, Press, basketball and football, and Fiesta tickets. The sale and distribution of the Paseo Handbook and the Red Cross drive were also under the sponsorship of the council.

The first semester Student Council elected as its officers: Bonnie Finley, president; Bob Sommers, vice-president; Max Capper, secretary; Jennie Wilhelmsen, treasurer; and

FRESHMAN INDUCTION CEREMONY

A dream of Mr. Stigall's was fulfilled this fall when, in the first ceremony of its kind in a high school of the United States, the class of 1941 was introduced to Paseo high school. Various institutions of Paseo were shown to the freshmen by means of symbolical characters which represented Courage, Honor, the Gold within each of us, the Ideal Self, and the Senior Boy and Girl. The freshman class was represented in the pageant by two of its members.

Those taking part in the production were:

Leslie Ecklund.....The Freshman Boy

Lucille Nathan.....The Freshman Girl

Murray Jones.....The Senior Boy

Dorothy Dean Stump.....The Senior Girl

Betty Nanninga.....The Ideal Self

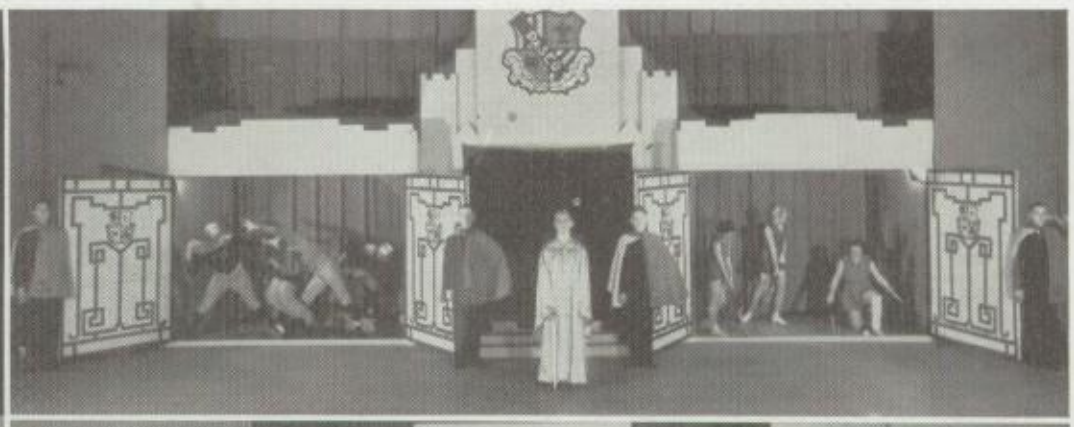
Bob Hanger .....Courage

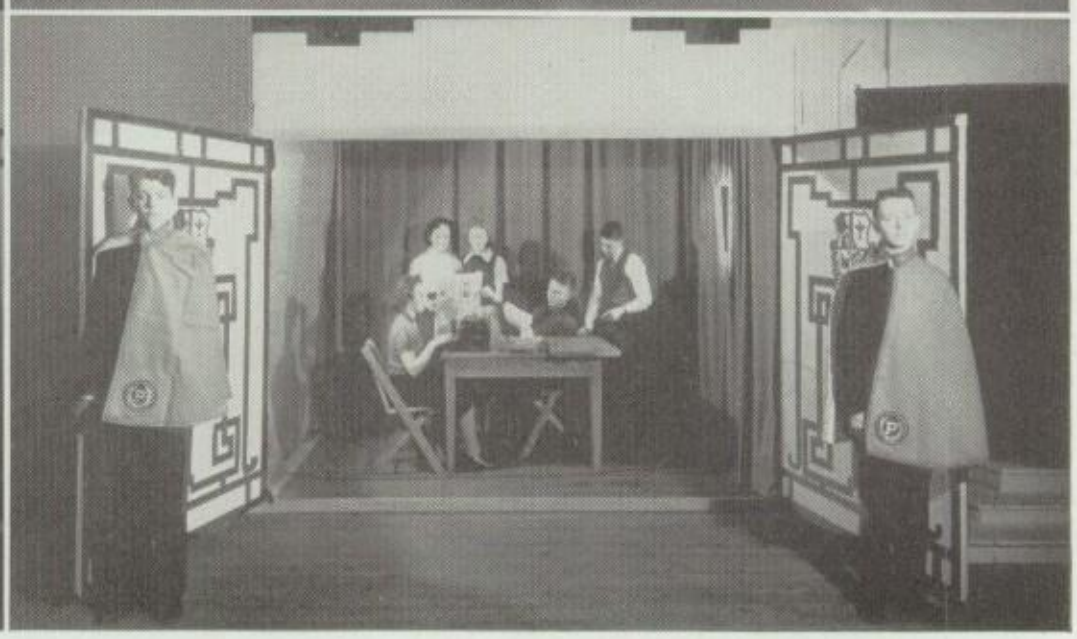
Bill Rehman.....Honor

Jessie Fairly.....The Gold in each of us

The freshmen this year had the rare opportunity of witnessing a school tradition in the making. The first year of the school most of the traditions were established. Of course, some of them have been broken since then, but on the whole the school spirit has remained the same. Every fall from now on, this same ceremony will be produced, with only minor changes.

Naturally, when a new project such as this is started, many details must be taken care of. The spectator may not notice the presence of these details, but he would notice their absence if everything were not taken care of. Therefore, we owe our thanks to these teachers whose diligent work made the production a success: Miss Swinney, chairman; Miss Baity, Miss Betz, Miss Blase, Mr. Carman, Miss Mabelle M. Miller, Miss Schmidt, Miss Taylor, Mrs. Henderson.





THE PASEON STAFF

"The Prime Purpose of This Annual Is to Record the People, the Events, and the Spirit of a Year of This School."

The purpose of this Paseon, the endeavors of the Paseon staff—each is to perpetuate the memories and events and pleasant relationships of the past year, 1937-38. Working under a handicap resulting from a three-week delay in the start of school, the staff believes it has attained its purpose, in picturing (pictorially) what has been accomplished and the accomplishers.

The trend in annual building is towards streamlining—this is accomplished by way of more informal pictures. Throughout the book, this policy is a predominating feature.

Chosen by Mr. G. G. Carman, adviser, on a basis of teachers' recommendations, personal rating, grades, and recommendations of the previous year's staff, the current staff has worked with harmonious results.

After being selected, the staff-elect takes a course in annual building during the summer preceding the school year. In this way they are equipped for the demands made on them in the process of composing the annual.

THE PASEO PRESS

An integral asset to school life is the Paseo Press, the weekly newspaper which appears every Thursday.

The first semester newswriting class concerns itself with the learning of how to write the news; when the second semester arrives, the newswriting students "graduate" from the cub class into the class of reporters and editors.

This year, the Press had representatives at the National Scholastic Press Association convention at Des Moines, Iowa. They were: Milt Dean Hill, Sam Gallas, Sam Spector. At the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association convention at Columbia, Missouri, the following attended: Miss Crissman, Bob Hanger, Harold Hendrix, Marcella Pfeiffer, Lodema Williams, Helen Fearing, Frank Benson and Bob Hope.

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Paseo's Traffic Squad was formulated to supervise the student traffic both in the cafeteria and in the corridors. This year found it also active on such special occasions as "open house" nights.

Members of the Traffic Squad are first nominated by the student body, but final selection is made by the faculty. Because they are such a guiding influence to upper and lower classmen, only boys well qualified in character and leadership are presented the familiar silver badge which signifies membership in the organization.

Though they must sacrifice their study period to perform their duties, and though there are certain restrictions and responsibilities connected with membership, the squad members find themselves amply repaid by the admiration which fellow classmates have for them.

In addition to the distinction derived by being a Traffic Squad member, each semester a free "feed" is given to the squad members as a courtesy from the cafeteria department.

The several changes in administration included the adoption of a Code of Honor with violations of its principles resulting in dismissal. Also this year marks the initial presentation of certificates of service to all members who have faithfully performed their duties for one complete school year.

The officers serving this year were: Conrad Marvin, director general; Neale Bakker, Jack Risser, and Joe Sparks, captains; Max Capper, Allen Ecton, Dick Latham and Jack Keim, lieutenants.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

The six girls who work in the outer office —one each hour—are the ones who call you up on the telephone or bring those little pink slips around to the rooms. Mr. Shepherd has five girls working in his office. They help him with enrollment and other detail work.

HEALTH ROOM ASSISTANTS

Each year Miss Powers, the school nurse, chooses six girls to aid her in her well-filled program of health education and disease prevention. These girls are selected from the physiology classes. Miss Powers not only takes personal rating into consideration, but also scholarship. This year, for the first time, all six of the girls were elected to membership in the National Honor Society.

The assistants were: first hour, Mary Betty Satterlee; second hour, Roberta Olson; third hour, Jessie Fairly; fourth hour, Ruth Mayes; fifth hour, Helen Carter; sixth hour, Virginia Keys.

Fine Arts

The Fine Arts department here at Paseo enables the students to appreciate the finer things of life and also helps them to develop their talents and capabilities. This department includes such courses as art, music, expression and public speaking.

The course offered in art is primarily commercial and it includes the principles of lettering, design, craft, and the appreciation of art. First, however, one must take a drawing course in the fundamentals of line, form, color and value.

The expression department offers both class and extra-curricular activity. Each year this department takes the initiative in producing the fall play and the senior play—both of which are highlights in the school's activities.

Paseo is known throughout the city for its fine musical talent and in our music course the students not only have their vocal training but they also develop an intelligent appreciation of good music through their acquaintance with the classics of the great composers.

In its course, the public speaking department stresses personal development in expression and includes the fundamental qualities of delivery, platform appearance, enthusiasm and also the fundamentals of debating and parliamentary law.

FIFTH HOUR FORENSIC FORUM

The Fifth Hour Forensic Forum was organized the last semester in order to give the members an idea as to how parliamentary law works and to give them experience in its workings.

Much enjoyment was had by the making of odd motions. The officers were elected for each five weeks' periods. The presidents were Conrad Marvin, Bob Sommer, and Walter Burks.

DEBATE TEAM

The debate teams under the instruction of Mr. A. B. Richmond made a splendid showing in debates with other schools. This year our teams debated Westport and Manual. Each school had a negative and an affirmative team, thus making possible two debates with each school. The members of the affirmative that participated in interscholastic debates were, at Westport, Janet Lowell, Earlene Workman. The negative that competed at Westport were Vivan Marshall and Waller Heck. The affirmative team at Manual was Don Schaffer and Eddie Hansen. The negative team at Manual consisted of Waller Heck and Walter Burks.

Those that competed in the debate against Manual at Paseo were: Janet Lowell and Earlene Workman.

The following students were those who made fine showings in class debates, but who did not compete in the inter-school debates. They were: Betty Michel, Mary Betty Satterlee, Bob Billington and Milt Dean Hill.

THE FALL PLAY

This fall, the most successful Fall Play in the history of Paseo was presented by the expression department, under the direction of Miss Anna McCoy Francis.

Mr. Richmond's home room public speaking class was in charge of the ticket sale, and their enthusiasm and sales ability was largely responsible for the full auditorium.

Betty Michel and Ed Hansen played the two collegiates who found true love in spite of many obstacles. Marjorie Miller and Garland Whitsitt were outstanding in their roles as Ed's parents. Chuck Gerber shone particularly as an old flame of Marjorie's. After the happy ending was reached, the general consensus of opinion among the audience was that a good time had been had by all.

THE STAGE CREW

These hard-working boys, under the direction of Mr. Campbell, made possible all the assemblies this year, by pushing buttons, pulling curtains, and generally making everything run smoothly. Thank you, boys!

They also provided comedy in several assemblies—at least they thought they did. Such comedy!! Well, anyway, boys, thanks again.

This organization chose the following to serve as their officers: Eleanor McCurry, president; Maxine Gille and Jimmy Peuter, vice-presidents; Betty Luder and Joe Crawford, secretaries; Joe Crawford and Waymon Baker, reporters.

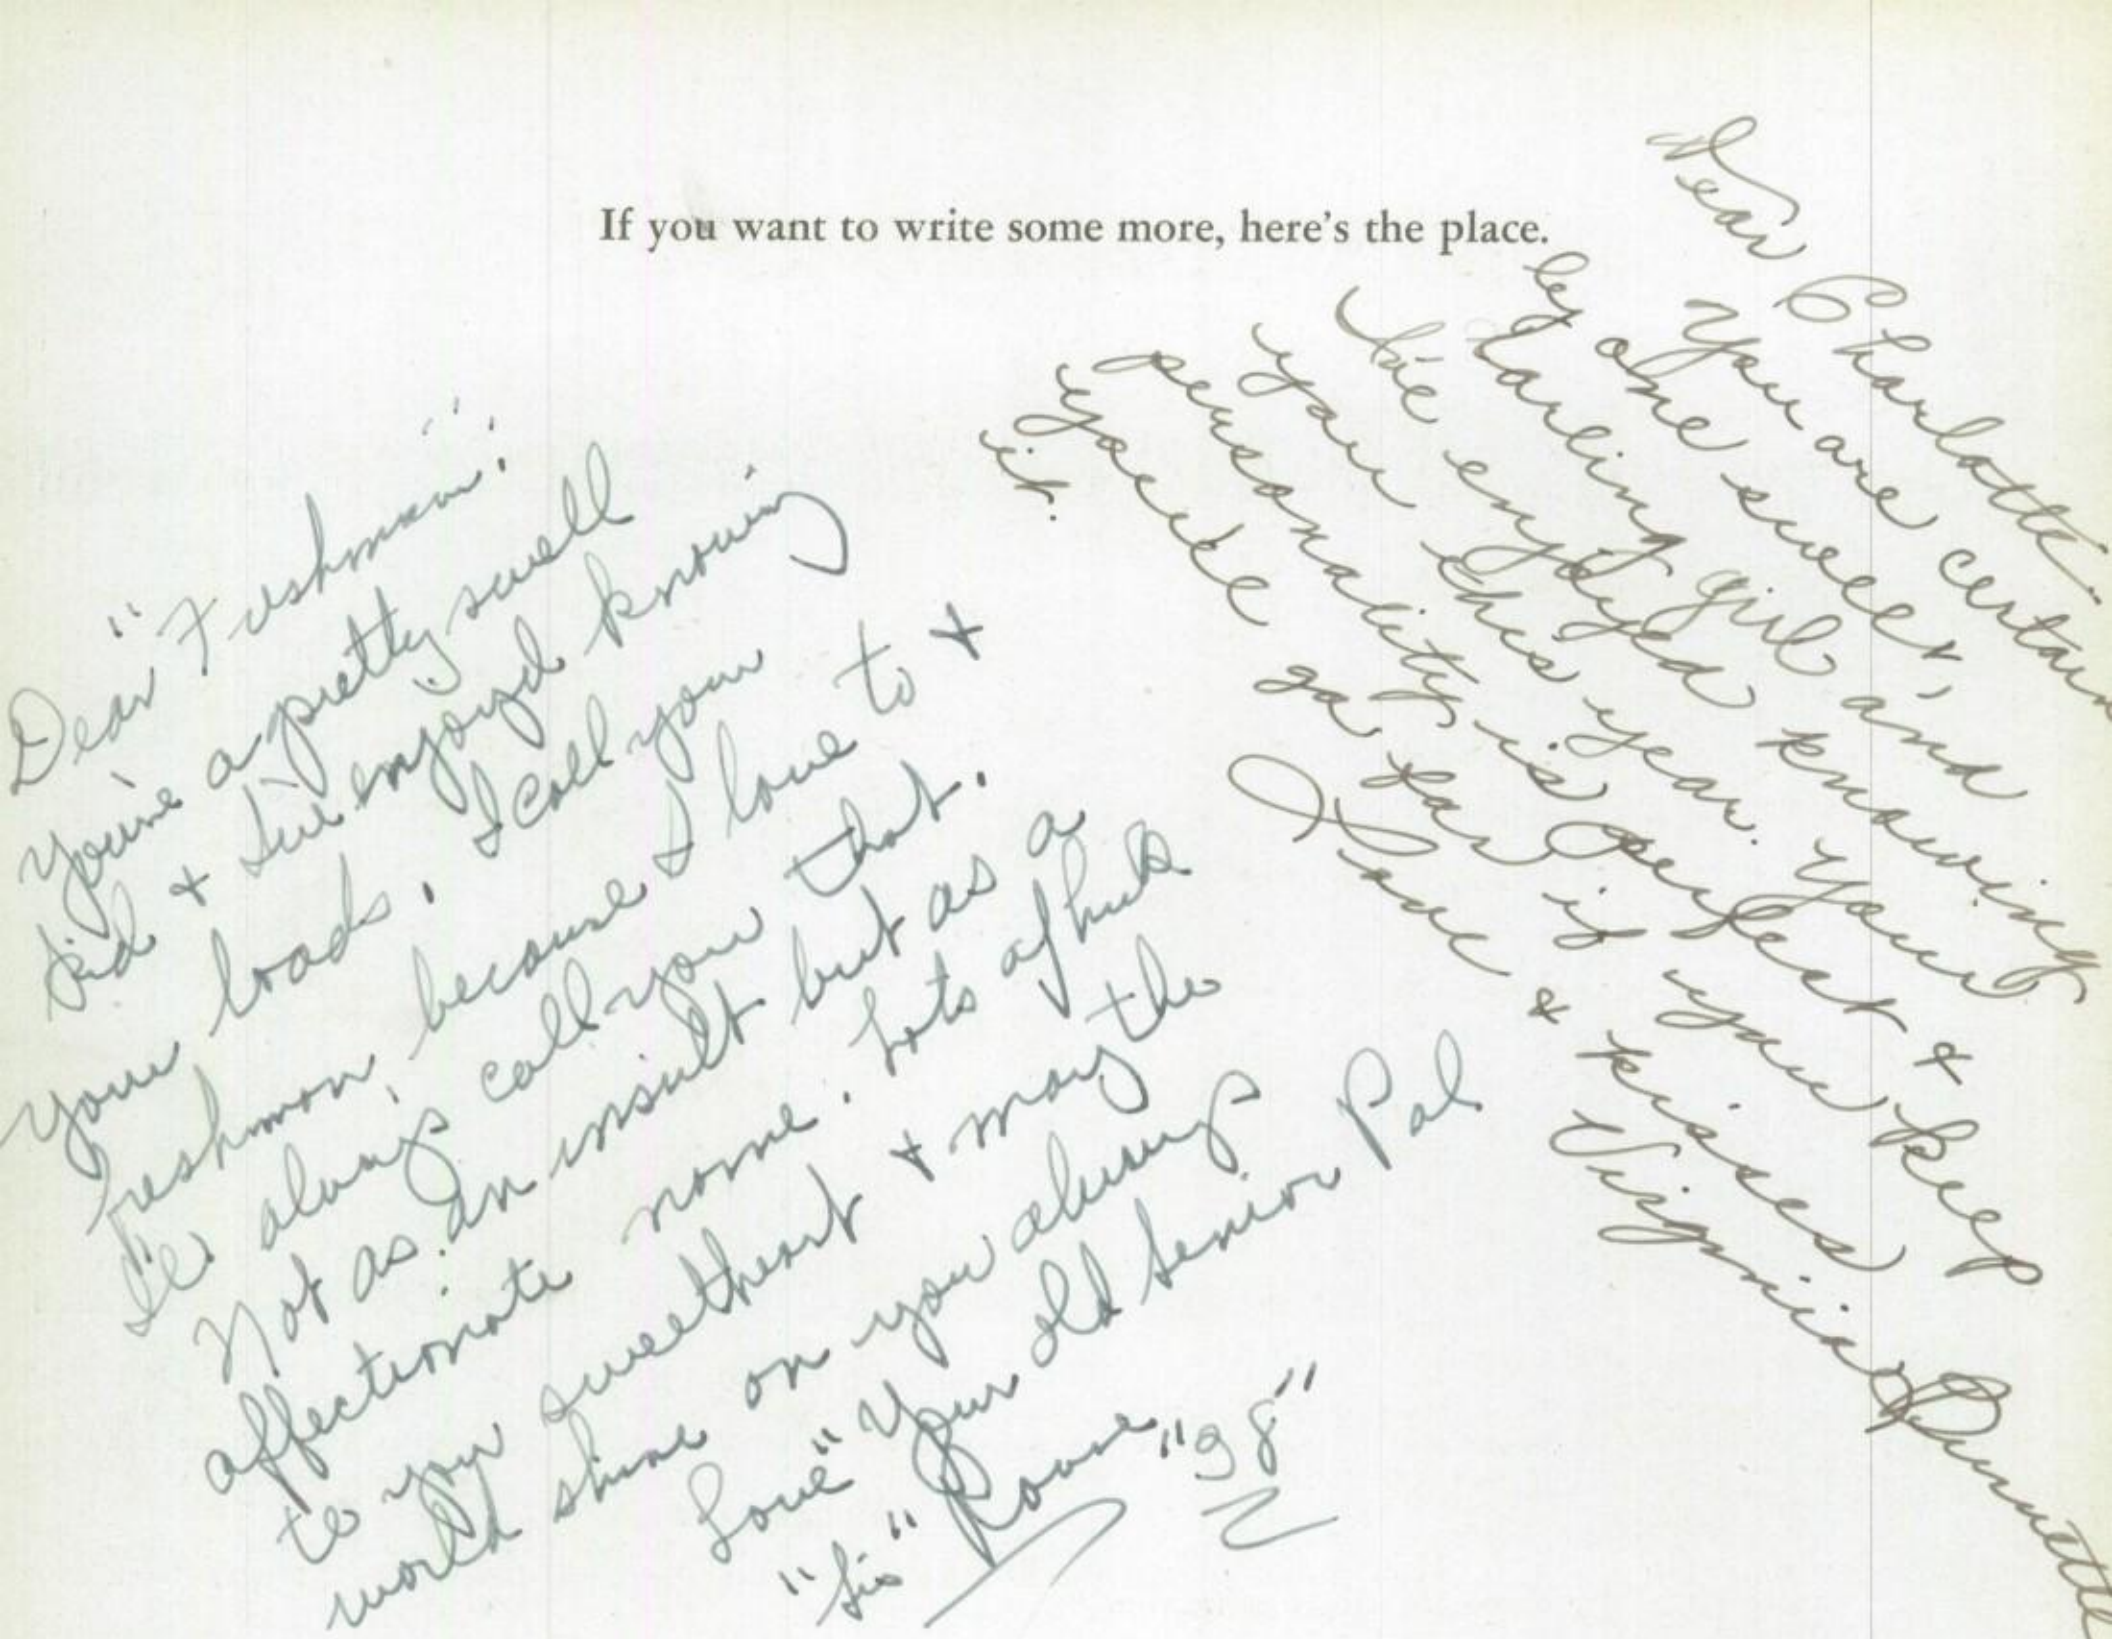
THE SENIOR PLAY

This year the senior play, presented by the senior class under the direction of Miss Baity, was "The Panther's Claw" by Austin Goetz. Since the fall play was a comedy and the senior play was a mystery, a good contrast was presented. But the play was not too horrifying, as it had many moments of comedy in it in which the audience was convulsed with laughter.

The romantic leads were played by Walt Gunn and Betty Newman, who were well fitted to each other and gave good performances. Other leads were played by Charles Gerber and Betty Nanninga, both accomplished troupers. Garland Whitsitt, otherwise known as THE PANTHER, otherwise known as the villain, provided many thrills for all the boys and girls.

The proceeds from the senior play were put on the senior gift, which was a scoreboard for the athletic field. The play was presented May 13.

If you want to write some more, here's the place.



MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Though the study of music is not required at Paseo, the music classes are always large. There are several reasons for this. I guess just about everybody likes to sing, only some people can't. If you can't, this is the place to learn. If you can sing, this is the place to learn to sing better. These are classes that really return the investment you place in them. The best people always take music. Then, too, there is also the opportunity of rendering service to the school. The A Cappella, Mixed Chorus, and Choral club are always ready, willing, and able to serve. The A Cappella ably represents Paseo by singing at outside occasions.

MIXED CHORUS

After the boys and girls finish their first year of music, they proceed to the Mixed Chorus where their experience increases and their voice grows as they learn new songs. Then as soon as they are able, they enter the A Cappella Choir.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The Paseo A Cappella Choir is indeed fortunate in having as its director, Miss Marguerite Zimmerman. Miss Zimmerman's musical experience is wide and her knowledge of voice, extensive. Under her guidance during the past decade, the various A Cappella choirs have reached great fame. This year a most successful record has been established by this group of unaccompanied singers.

The first to be chosen to represent Kansas City schools at the National Music Contest in St. Louis, Missouri, was Paseo's A Cappella Choir. Among other activities, the following are outstanding: The participation in the National Music Festival and Clinic; the Christmas play presented before the entire school in assembly, the P.-T. A. was also fortunate in having this play presented before them; at the President's Birthday Ball in the Municipal auditorium on January 31, the A Cappella Choir sang; a concert was participated in at the Art Gallery in which only young artists were invited to take part; various churches invited the A Cappella Choir to participate in their services.

"The choir is growing steadily in power —some of the numbers used by it command great breath control and understanding," said Miss Zimmerman. "It is handling its work in a most artistic manner."

MISS ZIMMERMAN'S HOME ROOM

Guiding the A Cappella Choir were: Jeanne LaMar and Bob Bowser, presidents; Norma DeJarnette and Seth Levene, vice-presidents; Marguerite Chaffin and Florine Shearer, secretaries; Max Morgenroth and Henry Manion, sergeants-at-arms; Maxine Monroe and David Ferguson, reporters; Seth Levene and Harold Kuhn, Student Council representatives; Mary Ruth Fogel and Jenny Wilhelmsen, alternates.

CHORAL CLUB

Do you remember the white-robed choir girls in the Christmas assembly? They were the Choral club. When the A Cappella Choir sang carols in the halls, the Choral club assisted them. Many of the girls in the Choral club proceeded to the A Cappella Choir, so it is in a way a proving ground for the choir, but it is also an entity in itself, as is shown by its service to the school.

Many times the girls go to the Mixed Chorus before they enter the A Cappella Choir. However, because of the wide range of the voices among the girls, this experience is not really needed. In the Choral club, great attention is paid to breath control, tone color, enunciation, and posture. After a girl has worked on these things even for a short time, she finds that her speaking voice has improved as much as her singing voice.

BOTTOM PICTURE

ORCHESTRA

Under the efficient direction of Mr. Donald Stephens, the concert orchestra has played through another season. Their exceptional talent has been heard several times of the year, at school and at a meeting of the Athenaeum Club. As a fitting close to their work was the Spring Concert at which the orchestra members acquitted themselves creditably.

Four members of the concert orchestra comprises the Paseo string quartet which is unique in both its accomplishments and its service to the school. It ranks high in musical ability evidenced by its demand at the Girl Reserve Christmas program, at various churches, the Christmas pageant and the Freshman Induction service. Climaxing a very successful year they furnished dinner music for the annual High School Women's Banquet at the Hotel Bellerive.

The quartet includes: Phyllis Flora, first violin; Bob Blodgett, second violin; Betty McKnight, viola; Ted Kirkham, Jr., cello.

BAND

The football games and the basketball games would be incomplete without our Paseo Band. Unquestioned is the loyalty of its members. The student body of Paseo repaid, in part, their service to the school by staunchly supporting the "Fiesta." The "Fiesta" was held for the benefit of the band in order that uniforms and band equipment might be purchased so that the instrumentation of the Paseo group would compare favorably with other high schools of the city.

Several times the band has represented its Alma Mater at out-of-town concerts. On many occasions the school has been stirred with patriotism and school loyalty when the auditorium was filled with the notes from the band at Pep assemblies.

WHISTLING CHORUS

Officers of the Whistling Chorus were: Ruth Krehbiel and Shirley Rex, presidents; June Clergy and Barbara Reber, vice-presidents; Barbara Reber and Lodema Williams, secretaries; Joanne Johnson, treasurer; Gloria Mullins and Ruth Krehbiel, librarians; Gertrude Stephens and Lodema Williams, reporters.

MIXER ORCHESTRA

What would the mixers be without the Mixer Orchestra? It is through the efforts of these faithful student musicians that the success of these social affairs was attained. Seven times during the past year they huffed and puffed and blew while the rest of the students danced.

PASEO AUTO CLUB

The Auto club this year elected these officers: Conrad Marvin and Donald Rollert, presidents; Charlotte Kaminsky and Conrad Marvin, vice-presidents; Madeleine Carr and Charlotte Kaminsky, secretaries; Warren Walker and Jean Hoare, treasurers; Donald Rollert and Sam Spector, business managers; Lucille Weber, art director; Sam Spector, contest director.

Soon after the start of school the club began its sale of car tags. It was a great success—almost a thousand were sold. The semester driver's course was a help to all those who took it. The giving of the annual driver's test and the issuing of the driver's cards to all those sixteen or over who passed the test finished up the semester's work.

The second semester started off with the election of officers. During March the reaction time of the juniors and seniors was tested. The driver's course was again started. Outside speakers, such as Mr. Lynch, safety director, and Mr. Seeborn, city engineer, increased the value of the sessions.

JUNIOR AUTO CLUB

The Junior Auto club, under the direction of Mr. Bevans, carries on the same work as the Senior Auto club. This year certificates were awarded to eighty-seven freshmen who completed the requirements for eligibility to a freshman driver's card. These requirements are: read articles in the library about safety and hand reports about them in; write an essay with safety as the theme; submit a safety cartoon; pass the objective test; see the safety movie which was shown. Herbert Rope won the cartoon contest sponsored by the club and Virginia Cordry won first place in the essay contest on the subject, "How I May Become a Good Driver."

FRESHMAN AUTO CLUB

Remember Who You Are

Wherever You Go

You Represent

Whether You Want to or Not

Yourself

Your Family

Your Clan

Your Neighborhood

Your City

Your Country

and

Paseo High School

This book,
They say,
Is at its end—
Almost;
To me is left
A sort of closing word,
One that's important,
One to remember—
Aye, that's the word,
The very word I want—
Remember!

But if they'll print
A little more for me,
Three other words I'll add
To make it whole.
I'd like to write these words
Upon the heart
Of each of you
In lines so deep
They could not wear away
In all the years to come.

Four little words
By which
To chart your course
Through dark and bright,
Through storm and stress;
Remember who you are.

MR. SHEPHERD

When Mr. Shepherd became a teacher, the medical profession lost a man who would have been one of the better doctors. He has that unusual quality of giving a person his medicine and making him like it. One of Mr. Shepherd's main duties is administering discipline, and it is a rare student who does not go out of his office liking him as well or better than when he came in.

Mr. Shepherd's success in dealing with the student body comes from his close understanding of their problems and difficulties. His long experience with people has made him sympathetic. Perhaps one of the things which keeps him in touch with school life is his sponsorship of various activities. He arranged the basketball matches between the champion league teams of Kansas City and St. Louis, and has actively supported all the other athletic events. He has his football and baseball letters from the Armour Institute of Technology, and represents the Kansas City district on the Board of Control of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association. Also, he was present at all school functions —especially the Intersociety Dance.

Assisting Mr. Shepherd in making the school run smoothly and well are the office workers: Mrs. Christine, attendance clerk; and Miss Larson, registrar. Miss Friend, the student adviser, helps make out the pupils' programs.

CAFETERIA FORCE

The cafeteria force is wholly responsible for the nourishment provided the students at school. This group very successfully managed the three lunch periods. Mrs. Mary L. Gibson ably completed her twelfth year as manager of our cafeteria.

THE CUSTODIANS

These obliging, helpful men render service to the school and keep us healthful and happy by keeping the school and grounds clean and the classrooms at the proper temperature.

In the absence of Mr. J. M. Watson, engineer-custodian, Mr. W. O. Welch took over these duties.

CUSTODIANS

ABSENTEES

The Paseon's aim to include every Paseo student in the annual is accomplished by this picture of absentees. These persons were not in school the day that their home room picture was taken. No officers are mentioned as this is a group of varied members from different home rooms.

FIRST PICTURE

THE PIRATES' LOG

SEPTEMBER:

After a delayed start, Cap'n Jim and his pirate crew set off on their voyage with added vim, vigor, and pencils. Roll-call found all 2,700 members of the crew present.

Trend of the Times:

Miss Zimmerman: I can't understand mothers who don't put their foot down on gum.

Foo plus Goo equals Boo

OCTOBER:

Bonnie Finley is elected the first girl president of the Student Council . . . The Freshman Induction Ceremony is presented. The Westport Tigers nose out the Pirates, 6-0. Mae Smith is editor of the Paseon, and Bob Billington, business manager. Paseo is all cleaned up for Open House. Walt Gunn, Bill Rehman, and Wayman Baker are elected to be those little bundles of pep who lead our cheers. The Flathead Fraternity is inaugurated. Our Pirates down the Northeast Vikings.

Trend of the Times:

Miss Zimmerman: I want you all to have poise.

Seth Levene: That's what you have, Miss Zimmerman, us poise (boys) and girls.

A rolling foo gathers no goo.

NOVEMBER:

Talent club gives an assembly. Pirate golfers win city championship, but the Southwest Indians defeated our squad. The Grabba Gobba Goo Fraternity is formed. Paseon sales start. Mr. Fairchild Gill speaks at Armistice Assembly. The Pirates bow to East's Bears. Delegates from the Paseon and the Press attend the National Scholastic Press Association convention at Des Moines. Central's undefeated Eagles meet the Pirates and are still undefeated.

Trend of the Times:

Doris Stubbs said she was reciprocating from the gay time she had.

There's no foo like an old foo.

DECEMBER:

Tuberculin test was given to the freshmen. Vincent Badali and Ted Stiles are on the All-Star Reserves. Only 125 more school days until summer vacation. Fall play "It Never Rains," is presented, with Ed Hansen and Betty Michel as leads.

Trend of the Times:

Mr. Constant, to Spanish class: Five American millionaires could buy Europe, but who wants it?

Mind your P's and Foo's.

JANUARY:

The Auto club gives drivers' tests. Miss Stittsworth passes away. The A Cappella Choir sings at the Art Gallery. Senior class, with Conrad Marvin presiding, has its first meeting. The Pirates upset the Central Eagles. Hank Warren is elected to lead the junior class. Westport Tigers nose out the Pirates in a close finish.

Trend of the Times:

"No final exams will be given, instead, just 'tests'."

FEBRUARY:

The P.-T.A. Circus is presented. Bob Hanger heads the new Press staff. The Pirates defeat Northeast, 19-16, and Southwest, 34-22. Paseo is promised a swimming pool, and excavation begins. The Interscholastic League ends in a triple deadlock, which was played off at the Armory. Paseo won. Max Capper heads the new Student Council.
Trend of the Times:
First ghost: "I thought you knew that ghost standing over there."
Second ditto: "I do, but I'm not on spooking terms with him."

A pooceful home is the best.

MARCH:

The senior class gift is a scoreboard for the athletic field. An orchestra from Park College plays, and a Washington university glee club sings, in assemblies. High School day at Teachers College. George Spink and Jean Stout are king and queen of the Fiesta; a complete press is devoted to the Fiesta. The National Honor Society members are elected.

Trend of the Times:

No, it wasn't girl friends.

Not even bad news.

Can't you tell? It was Saturday's game.

Brought on those St. Louis Blues.

Strawberry foo-cake is goo-d.

APRIL:

The Fashion Show is presented. The R. O. T. C. Circus takes place in the snow. A glee club from William Woods sings in fourth hour study hall. The Inter-Society dance is a big success. Nell Snead talks to the senior girls. Rabbi Mayerberg speaks at the National Honor Society assembly.

Trend of the Times:

Spring is here, spring is here.

(It usually comes round, this time of year).

Many a foo lies asleep in the deep.

MAY:

The verse contests are held. The Prom is held in the Little Theater for the first time. Walt Gunn and Betty Newman are big successes as the leads in the Senior Play. Senior assembly goes over with a bang, and the Paseons come out. The biggest success in twelve years.

Trend of the times:

Mr. Coombe, explaining a test to first-hour American History: "The object of Franklin Roosevelt's new deal is (blank) and (blank).
Voice from back of room: "Right!"

Thanks foo the memory.

JUNE:

"Tests" . . . Grade cards . . . Graduation.

Well, g'bye, folksies, and remember,

Remember foo you are.
